RUSSIANS WILL FIGHT

PORT ARTHUR GARRISON REFUSES JAPANESE DEMAND TO SURRENDER.

Lines Have Drawn Closer

JAPANESE FORCES PRESS FORWARD UPON BESIEGED RUSSIAN FORTRESS.

Tokio, Aug. 18.—The mikado has received from the commander of his forces at Port Arthur the Russian general's reply to the imperial demand for surrender. Lieutenant General Stoessel expresses his thanks for the humanitarian offer to grant safe conduct to all noncombatants within the Russian lines. The demand to surrender, Stoessel refuses uncompromisingly and declares his garrison will fight to the last man in defense of the fortress.

The Russians are disinclined to send out noncombatants.

London, Aug. 18.—According to the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Chefoo, refugees arriving there bring news of a serious condition of affairs at Port Arthur. They say that Japanese shells have ignited lighters in the docks, which contained supplies of coal, resulting in a terrible conflagration. Many of the buildings have been demolished and the hospitals are crowded.

Lines Drawn Closer

JAPANESE BESIEGING FORCE IS TIGHTENING ITS GRIP UPON PORT ARTHUR.

Chefoo, Aug. 18.—According to news received here Wednesday the Japanese line has been drawn still closer around beleaguered Port Arthur. The right wing of the Japanese line has penetrated to the vicinity of Pigeon bay, while the center has moved forward from Palingshing, which is south of Shushiyen and two miles north of the town.

Chinese are authority for the above outline of the new Japanese positions. Passengers on board the steamer Decima, which anchored off Port Arthur Tuesday night, witnessed the bombardment from Pigeon bay.

The Japanese shells were visible during their whole course. They circled comet-like to the town and their explosions were marked by great splashes of fire, which shot up into the sky. The bombardment from this and other points began at midnight and lasted until morning. The Russians did not reply to the Japanese fire. Major Seaman, formerly a surgeon in the American army, was a passenger on the Decima. He says the spectacle was most brilliant and awe-inspiring. The Decima weighed anchor from Port Arthur at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning.

At some distances out she saw five Japanese warships guarding the harbor.

AFTER ARDUOUS OPERATIONS.
Besieging Forces Place Siege Guns on Wolf Hills.

London, Aug. 18.—The Tokio correspondent of the Times says that the capture of the Wolf hills near Port Arthur entailed the most arduous operations. The assault began July 26 and the Japanese carried the position July 27, but were driven out by strong Russian reserves, which had been prepared for this emergency. During the night of July 27, the Japanese assaulting force was greatly increased, enabling it to attack from three directions, and on July 28 the position was finally carried. The Russians abandoned two Maxim guns and one Nordenföld. By the evening of July 30, all the outer works were in the possession of the Japanese, who began to mount siege guns.

Along Parallel Lines.

America and Britain Raise Question of Food as Contraband.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—The United States and Great Britain have formally raised the question of foodstuffs as contraband of war, except when directly proved that they are destined for belligerents' armies or navies. While acting on parallel lines the United States and Great Britain are proceeding independently. The American case was presented through Ambassador McCormick and follows the line of the American declaration at the time of the Spanish war. It is in the form of a protest against the confiscation of flour on board the Arabia. The general American contention regarding coal, naphtha, etc., as set forth in Secretary Hay's note of June 10 are also placed before the Russian government.

Great Britain followed by raising not only the question of foodstuffs as contraband but the legality of the sinking of neutral vessels. The protest was presented through Ambassador Hardinge. The views are practically those embodied in the king's speech at the proroging of parliament.

Although the communications of both governments are couched in friendly terms they make the positions of the United States and Great Britain quite clear and emphatic.

Cruisers Reach Vladivostok.

The Russia and Gromobol Get Back to Port.

London, Aug. 18.—A dispatch to the Central News from Vladivostok, dated Aug. 17, says the cruisers Russia and Gromobol of the Vladivostok squadron have returned there.

Four People Are Killed.

Trolley Cars and Train in Collision at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Four people were killed, another fatally hurt, and twenty-three severely injured in a collision late Wednesday afternoon between an express train on the Chicago Great Western railroad and a train of three trolley cars bound for the Hawthorne race track.

The dead are: Mrs. Frances Rautman, William Irving, Mrs. Jeremiah Shuckrow, and an unidentified woman about thirty years of age.

Michael Ryan, motorman of the trolley car, was fatally injured.

The accident occurred at the crossing of Forty-eighth avenue and the Chicago Great Western tracks. The train was coming into the city and according to some witnesses of the accident, was running at a high rate of speed. Others, and the train crew, declare that it was not going over twenty miles an hour. The trolley train, which was made up of a motor car and two trailers, in charge of Conductor W. H. Condon and Motorman Michael Ryan, approached the crossing at a rapid rate just as the train came around a sharp curve to the west with all his strength in the effort to stop his car, but the brakes refused to work and with undiminished speed the motor car ran upon the tracks at the same time that the locomotive came up. The car struck the train just between the engine and the tender. The motor car was torn to splinters, the car immediately behind it was knocked over, smashed nearly to pieces and dragged along the track for 100 feet. The rear car was not dragged from the tracks and but for the fact that the couplings between it and the second trailer broke, the list of killed and injured would probably be much larger.

All the members of the train crew and the conductors of the trolley cars were placed under arrest.

Confers with Strike Leaders.

Federal Representative Investigates Situation in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—T. A. Carroll, special agent of the federal department of labor and commerce, visited President Donnelly Wednesday and held a long conference with the strike leader. With Donnelly, Secretary-Treasurer Homer D. Call of the International Butchers' organization explained the situation fully to the federal representative.

Flanking Movement

JAP ARMIES TRYING TO FORCE THE RUSSIANS OUT OF LIAOYANG.

Liaoyang, Aug. 18.—A general Japanese flanking movement is developing to the east and parallel with the railway. The movement involves the whole mass of troops from Dalin pass, about twenty-five miles southwest of Tachekiao, to Diodinshan, on the Taitsie river, thirty-five miles south-east of Mukden. It is evident that these troops have combined with the object of forcing the Russians out of Liaoyang without a fight, and thus securing advantageous winter quarters. It is not thought the Japanese have enough men to consummate the movement until the release of a large number of the troops now besieging Port Arthur.

It is reported that a large force has left Haicheng and is retiring to Tachekiao.

Chinese bandits are more active than ever. They again blew up the railroad near here and fired during the night on train bearing Colonel Spiridoro of the Amur railroad battalion. They are rendering the environs of the town unsafe after dark by sniping from the tall corn in the fields and have tortured a number of victims.

The present movement and disposition of the Japanese forces are taken to indicate a new plan of operations.

All the troops appear to be moving north. At present the Japanese disposition shows a defensive movement, with Korea as a base in case of retreat.

Cruiser Novik Sighted.

Russian Warship Off the Southeast Coast of Japan.

London, Aug. 18.—According to a dispatch to the Central News from St. Petersburg it has been semi-officially announced there that the cruiser Novik of the Port Arthur squadron was sighted off Cape Alsomosaki, on the southeast coast of Japan, by the American steamer Overton. The Novik was apparently making for Vladivostok.

Inherited.
They were jollying the man about his enormous appetite, but he kept "putting away," undisturbed by the taunts. Finally he said in defense: "Well, you see, I take after both my father and my mother. One ate a long while and the other ate a great deal."

UGLY COMPLICATIONS

LIKELY TO FOLLOW CONTEMPLATED ACTION OF JAPAN'S SHIPS AT CHEFOO.

Must Disarm or Else Fight

JAPS IN NO MOOD TO STAND ANY NONSENSE OVER VESSELS IN CHINESE PORT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 17.—The report that Japan has sent an ultimatum to China threatening to repeat the Ryeshitelni incident in the case of the cruiser Askold and torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi at Shanghai, especially after it was understood that Russia had already agreed to the disarmament of these vessels, is regarded here more as a political than a military move, the purpose of which is to overawe the Peking government and to compel it henceforth to turn a deaf ear to Russia and to recognize Japan as the dominant power in the far East, it being inconceivable that a Western power would permit Japan to carry out her threat to engage in hostilities in the neutral waters of China.

The Russian authorities, who understand thoroughly the effect of a display of force upon the Peking government, appreciate how greatly China has been already impressed by the unbroken record of Japanese successes on sea and land, and are inclined to believe that Japan's act is designed to compel China to stand firm against Russia's demands in the Ryeshitelni affair, to which China's first reply was unsatisfactory.

Should Russia then regard China as the active ally of Japan, the purpose of the United States and other powers in seeking to limit the area of the war, to prevent disorders and to preserve the neutrality of China might be defeated.

The whole situation is considered to be fraught with the possibilities of ugly complications unless Japan listens to the friendly counsel of the powers, whose advice in the case of the Ryeshitelni, it is understood, she has declined to follow.

Squadron Going to Shanghai.

Japs Will Demand That Russian Ships Be Disarmed.

London, Aug. 18.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Morning Post says it is reported that a Japanese squadron is coming there in consequence of the failure as yet to comply with the Japanese demand that the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi be disarmed or quit the port.

Commenting on the foregoing, the Morning Post says it thinks the Japanese are not in a mood to stand much nonsense and points out that there are now eighteen foreign men-of-war at Shanghai, eight of which are American.

"If it comes to a scrimmage," says the Post, "it will be the duty of these men-of-war to keep the peace and force the tactical to do his duty. A gentle hint from the American admiral will doubtless have a quieting effect."

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times, under date of Aug. 17, sends the following:

The Chinese have again changed front. The tactical today received instructions from the wai wu pu (the Chinese foreign board) that the cruiser Askold and the destroyer Grozovoi are to be allowed a reasonable period for the execution of repairs, at the expiration of which period they must either depart or disarm. The Japanese consul has intimated that Japan will take strong measures should there be any further delay.

Want Judge Parker to Speak.

Visitors at Rosemont Urge Him to Tour Doubtful States.

Esopus, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Nearly sixty delegates arriving at Rosemont from the West urged Judge Parker to go on a stamping tour during the campaign and visit all doubtful states. This was the object of the visit Wednesday from G. V. Menzies and John Spencer of Indiana. So much encouragement was received that they remained over night at Judge Parker's home to discuss the subject of a Western trip. Judge Parker determined soon after his nomination by the St. Louis convention that he would conduct his personal campaign from Rosemont, but since the notification ceremonies, so much pressure has been brought to bear upon him that he has promised to give the invitations serious consideration.

The suggestion has been made that Judge Parker extend his trip to the St. Louis exposition, to take in a number of cities in Indiana and other states that are regarded as doubtful by the Democratic campaign managers.

Edward M. Shepard of New York, mentioned as a possible candidate for the governorship of New York, took luncheon with Judge Parker and was another who urged the necessity of making this a speaking campaign.

GRAND ARMY CONVENTION.

Real Business of the Session Being Transacted.

Boston, Aug. 18.—The real business of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is holding its annual encampment in this city, began Wednesday at the organization and the business sessions of affiliated societies.

The majority of the former wearers of the Union blue who are not accredited delegates to the convention spent the day and evening in renewing their acquaintanceships, fighting their battles over again, and in enjoying the many attractions offered for their entertainment.

In the afternoon thousands of them journeyed to the United States navy-yard at Charlestown to witness the launching of the training ship Cumberland. Others spent the day in visiting Faneuil Hall, Bunker Hill and other spots of historic associations.

A water carnival on the Charles river at Waltham was the chief attraction of the evening and drew an immense throng of sightseers.

Between 1,300 and 1,400 delegates were present when the annual convention of the G. A. R. was called to order in Symphony hall at 10 a. m. The feature of the proceedings was the reading of a letter from President Roosevelt expressing regret at his inability to attend the encampment.

John C. Black delivered the annual address of the commander-in-chief and the reports of the adjutant general and quartermaster general were circulated. The business transacted was principally of a routine nature.

At the annual convention of the national Woman's Relief corps, Mrs. Fanny E. Minot of Manchester, N. H., was elected national president on the first ballot.

Officers Shot Down.

One Killed and Another Wounded While Trying to Make an Arrest.

Newcastle, Pa., Aug. 18.—Newcastle was thrown into a fever of excitement late at night by the instant killing of Officer Frank Skidmore and the wounding of Officer John Atkinson, two Newcastle policemen, while attempting to make an arrest in Croton, on the outskirts of Newcastle. The murderer escaped. A posse of deputies were hastily sworn in and armed, bloodhounds were telephoned for and Troop F of the national guard was ordered out. Skidmore and Atkinson were sent for to arrest Rosewell Waite, who had been raising a disturbance in his mother's house.

Ceremony Is Simple

HENRY G. DAVIS NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION AT ST. LOUIS CONVENTION.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 18.—Henry G. Davis was Wednesday formally notified of, and formally accepted, his nomination by the Democratic party for vice president of the United States. The day was a perfect one. The ceremonies took place in the open air in the grounds of Greenbriar hotel, White Sulphur Springs, and was marked by simplicity in every detail. Mr. Davis was escorted to the flag-draped platform at 1:30 p. m. by Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who delivered the notification address. An invocation by the Rt. Rev. Dr. W. Gravatt preceded Mr. Williams, who occupied an hour in speaking. It took Mr. Davis ten minutes to read his formal acceptance speech, but he prefaced this with a heart to heart talk of a like duration to several thousand friends and neighbors, who were gathered under the trees as his audience. Senator Daniel of Virginia was forced to acknowledge a demand for a speech, but declined, and at 3:30 the ceremony ended and the gathering dispersed.

Earlier in the day a formal letter of notification was handed Mr. Davis in the parlor of the hotel in the presence of the assembled notification committee. It was a simple statement of the action of the St. Louis convention with reference to his nomination. He took the letter without reading it and thanked the committee, saying he would respond later in the day and hoped for a victorious response in November.

The Asphalt Mine Trouble.

Minister Bowen Reports on the Subject to Washington.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The long expected detailed report from Minister Bowen on the trouble between the Venezuelan government and the New York and Bermudez company over the asphalt mines reached the state department Wednesday. It contains a full record of the proceedings in the Venezuelan courts up to the time of the seizure of the company's property. The claim of the government is that the company has forfeited its contract with the government to exploit and export other things than asphalt from the country.

The company insists that it holds its properties under a concession of later date than the Hamilton concession and one not subject to the forfeiture clause of the laws. A final decision of the case cannot be had in the courts before Sept. 15 next. The state department is willing to await that decision if it should appear there is no intention unnecessarily to delay the proceedings.

FOUR PEOPLE ARE KILLED.

Trolley Cars and Train in Collision at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Four people were killed, another fatally hurt, and twenty-three severely injured in a collision late Wednesday afternoon between an express train on the Chicago Great Western railroad and a train of three trolley cars bound for the Hawthorne race track.

The dead are: Mrs. Frances Rautman, William Irving, Mrs. Jeremiah Shuckrow, and an unidentified woman about thirty years of age.

Michael Ryan, motorman of the trolley car, was fatally injured.

The accident occurred at the crossing of Forty-eighth avenue and the Chicago Great Western tracks. The train was coming into the city and according to some witnesses of the accident, was running at a high rate of speed. All the members of the train crew and the conductors of the trolley cars were placed under arrest.

UGLY COMPLICATIONS

LIKELY TO FOLLOW CONTEMPORARY ACTION OF JAPAN'S SHIPS AT CHEFOO.

MUST DISARM OR ELSE FIGHT

JAPS IN NO MOOD TO STAND ANY NONSENSE OVER VESSELS IN CHINESE PORT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 17.—The report that Japan has sent an ultimatum to China threatening to repeat the Ryeshitnei incident in the case of the cruiser Askold and torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi at Shanghai, especially after it was understood that Russia had already agreed to the disarmament of these vessels, is regarded here more as a political than a military move, the purpose of which is to overawe the Peking government and to compel it henceforth to turn a deaf ear to Russia and to recognize Japan as the dominant power in the far East, it being inconceivable that a Western power would permit Japan to carry out her threat to engage in hostilities in the neutral waters of China.

Should Russia then regard China as the active ally of Japan, the purpose of the United States and other powers in seeking to limit the area of the war, to prevent disorders and to preserve the neutrality of China might be defeated.

The whole situation is considered to be fraught with the possibilities of ugly complications unless Japan listens to the friendly counsel of the powers, whose advice in the case of the Ryeshitnei, it is understood, she has declined to follow.

SQUADRON GOING TO SHANGHAI.

Japs Will Demand That Russian Ships Be Disarmed.

London, Aug. 18.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Morning Post says it is reported that a Japanese squadron is coming there in consequence of the failure as yet to comply with the Japanese demand that the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi be disarmed or quit the port.

WANT JUDGE PARKER TO SPEAK.

Visitors at Rosemount Urge Him to Tour Doubtful States.

Esopus, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Nearly every delegation arriving at Rosemount from the West urges Judge Parker to go on a stumping tour during the campaign and visit all doubtful states. This was the object of the visit Wednesday from G. V. Menzies and John Spencer of Indiana. So much encouragement was received that they remained over night at Judge Parker's home to discuss the subject of a Western trip. Judge Parker determined soon after his nomination by the St. Louis convention that he would conduct his personal campaign from Rosemount, so much pressure has been brought to bear upon him that he has promised to give the invitations serious consideration.

The suggestion has been made that Judge Parker extend his trip to the St. Louis exposition, to take in a number of cities in Indiana and other states that are regarded as doubtful by the Democratic campaign managers. Edward M. Shepard of New York, mentioned as a possible candidate for the governorship of New York, took luncheon with Judge Parker and was another who urged the necessity of making this a speaking campaign.

GRAND ARMY CONVENTION.

Real Business of the Session Being Transacted.

Boston, Aug. 18.—The real business of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is holding its annual encampment in this city, began Wednesday at the organization and the business sessions of affiliated societies.

The majority of the former wearers of the Union blue who are not accredited delegates to the convention spent the day and evening in renewing their acquaintanceships, fighting their battles over again, and in enjoying the many attractions offered for their entertainment.

In the afternoon thousands of them journeyed to the United States navy-yard at Charlestown to witness the launching of the training ship Cumberland. Others spent the day in visiting Faneuil Hall, Bunker Hill and other spots of historic associations.

A water carnival on the Charles river at Waltham was the chief attraction of the evening and drew an immense throng of sightseers.

Between 1,300 and 1,400 delegates were present when the annual convention of the G. A. R. was called to order in Symphony hall at 10 a. m. The feature of the proceedings was the reading of a letter from President Roosevelt expressing regret at his inability to attend the encampment.

John C. Black delivered the annual address of the commander-in-chief and the reports of the adjutant general and quartermaster general were circulated. The business transacted was principally of a routine nature.

At the annual convention of the national Woman's Relief corps, Mrs. Fanny E. Minot of Manchester, N. H., was elected national president on the first ballot.

OFFICERS SHOT DOWN.

One Killed and Another Wounded While Trying to Make an Arrest.

Newcastle, Pa., Aug. 18.—Newcastle was thrown into a fever of excitement late at night by the instant killing of Officer Frank Skidmore and the wounding of Officer John Atkinson, two Newcastle policemen, while attempting to make an arrest in Croton, on the outskirts of Newcastle. The murderer escaped. A posse of deputies were hastily sworn in and armed, bloodhounds were telephoned for and Troop F of the national guard was ordered out. Skidmore and Atkinson were sent for to arrest Rosewell Waite, who had been raising a disturbance in his mother's house.

CEREMONY IS SIMPLE

HENRY G. DAVIS NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION AT ST. LOUIS CONVENTION.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 18.—Henry G. Davis was Wednesday formally notified of, and formally accepted, his nomination by the Democratic party for vice president of the United States. The day was a perfect one. The ceremonies took place in the open air in the grounds of Greenbriar hotel, White Sulphur Springs, and was marked by simplicity in every detail. Mr. Davis was escorted to the flag-draped platform at 1:30 p. m. by Representative John Sharp of Mississippi, who delivered the notification address. An invocation by the Rt. Rev. Dr. W. Gravatt preceded Mr. Williams, who occupied an hour in speaking. It took Mr. Davis ten minutes to read his formal acceptance speech, but he prefaced this with a heart to heart talk of a like duration to several thousand friends and neighbors, who were gathered under the trees as his audience. Senator Daniel of Virginia was forced to acknowledge a demand for a speech, but declined, and at 3:30 the ceremony ended and the gathering dispersed.

Earlier in the day a formal letter of notification was handed Mr. Davis in the parlor of the hotel in the presence of the assembled notification committee. It was a simple statement of the action of the St. Louis convention with reference to his nomination. He took the letter without reading it and thanked the committee, saying he would respond later in the day and hoped for a victorious response in November.

THE ASPHALT MINE TROUBLE.

Minister Bowen Reports on the Subject to Washington.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The long expected detailed report from Minister Bowen on the trouble between the Venezuelan government and the New York and Bermudez company over the asphalt mines reached the state department Wednesday. It contains a full record of the proceedings in the Venezuelan courts up to the time of the seizure of the company's property. The claim of the government is that the company has forfeited its contract with the government to exploit and export other things than asphalt from the country.

The company insists that it holds its properties under a concession of later date than the Hamilton concession and one not subject to the forfeiture clause of the laws. A final decision of the case cannot be had in the courts before Sept. 15 next. The state department is willing to await that decision if it should appear there is no intention unnecessarily to delay the proceeding.

Rebellion in Congo Free State.

Brussels, Aug. 18.—It is reported here that a rebellion has broken out in the Mongall river district of the Congo Free State, and that troops are being sent there.

PHILIPPINES AT WORLD'S FAIR

Complete Exhibition of Island People and Industries Covers Forty-seven Acres and Is Independent of Larger Show.

Not even in the heart of Manila city could there be found forty-seven acres of Philippine territory as interesting as that amount of space covered by the islands' display at the World's Fair. Here is an exposition within an exposition, a little wheel that revolves independently of the larger one encompassing it.

Scores of buildings are filled with exhibits, native life is depicted by as many different villages as there are tribes on the islands, military drills are given by Philippine troops, and concerts are rendered by native bands. For its amusement features the Philippine exposition has the humorous Igorrote, who dines on dog meat, and visitors are entertained by Visayan actors and actresses. Nothing is lacking to make the show complete.

The Administration building is a replica of the government offices in Manila, while the Art and Education building reproduces in miniature the cathedral within the walled city, even the mellowed tints of age being faithfully rendered. A section of the ancient but still serviceable town wall has been reconstructed to serve the double purpose of a gateway to the show and a museum of arms and war relics. The other main edifices are types of Filipino homes, being built of undressed timber, bamboo and rattan, with thatched roofs and broad verandas.

Then there are the tribal villages nesting under the trees, some of the houses perched high up among the boughs, others on piles above the waters of the Arrowhead lake, all of them actual dwellings fashioned of native materials by native workmanship and illustrating the manners, customs and pursuits of their occupants. Here are women weaving a coarse cloth on a rude hand loom, others making baskets, others tending irrigated fields of rice. One group of men are in village council, trying an offender according to their tribal laws; others are slowly moving in a circular dance to the thump of tom-toms and the clang of brass gongs; others, again, are smelting iron by the aid of a primitive but most ingenious bellows, the constituent parts of which are a bamboo tube and an air-tight mop of feathers working therein like the piston of a syringe. And these are but a few of an almost endless variety of life pictures.

The ethnological problem is a somewhat complicated one; but, although there are no fewer than sixteen races represented among the village dwellers, the scouts and the constabulary, each race speaking its own dialect and following its own customs, all may be roughly classified into four groups—the true aboriginals or non-Malays, the pagan Malays, the Christian Malays and the Mohammedan Malays.

The first are the dwarf Negritos, with dark skins and woolly heads, wearers of scanty raiment, proficient in the use of the bow and poisoned arrow, a race of nomads and forest dwellers, pagans pure and simple. They live in their own stockaded village.

Next to them are the Igorrotes, whose origin is traced back to the first wave of Malay invasion. Here, again, we have scanty clothing, amounting almost to nudity, but copper colored skins, long wavy tresses, pleasant featured faces and fine physiques, even though the stature be small. Among these pagan Malays are the head hunters and the dog eaters. They are savages, yet have their code of laws and a knowledge of several primitive industries.

The Christian Malays, produced by the second wave of invasion, are represented by the Visayans, a tall and handsome race, dressing well, living in pretty homes, skilled in weaving, dyeing, basket making, hat making, wood carving and other handicrafts, musicians of no mean merit, the one group of natives who came early and thoroughly under the influence of the early Spanish settlers.

Very different are the Moros, who swept into the islands from the Malay peninsula last of all, bringing with them their Mohammedan religion, also a knowledge of gunpowder acquired from the Koran by the Arabs—fanatics like their teachers, pirates, blood-thirsty, treacherous and vindictive fellows, ever at war among themselves and with the whole outside world. Despite their ferocity they are a clever race, dress handsomely, have their sultans and their slaves and are expert seamen, while long continued pillage on the high seas has surrounded them with many of the luxuries and conveniences of western civilization.

The buildings of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries show all the varied natural products, also the extremely primitive processes as yet in vogue, while in the Women's building we are introduced to a number of native manufactures, including the beautiful fabrics from the jute, banana and pineapple fibers. This information is collated in the Building of Commerce, where a unique and most effective method of exhibiting is followed. In one hall are samples of all the articles produced for export, among which manilla fiber, of course, holds the chief place of prominence, while in a second hall are all the manufactures from every country that are imported and find a ready market among the populace. Thus the business man gets a dual lesson. He sees what he can profitably take from the islands, and also what he may profitably send to them. When it is added that a large number of representative Filipinos have been brought over to visit the Exposition and that American business methods and manufactures, it will be recognized that great benefit both to the islands and to the world at large must result from this work of mutual enlightenment.

CONCERTS BY MASSED BANDS

Prizes Aggregating $30,000 to Be Distributed at the World's Fair.

Never were musical events in America planned upon such an elaborate scale as those of the World's Fair. A series of concerts will be given by competing bands in contest for prizes offered by the World's Fair. These contests will take place in Festival Hall, Sept. 12 to 17.

Nine cash prizes, aggregating $30,000, are offered for the successful bands. The prizes are divided so as to give to the organization scoring the highest number of points $3,250; $2,500 will be given to the band scoring the second highest number of points and $1,500 to the one getting the third highest number.

The above division is made for bands in Class A, which consist of twenty members. In the B class $10,000 will be given in prizes—first, $4,500; second, $3,500; third, $2,000.

Class C, which includes bands of thirty-five members, will enjoy the division of $12,750. For the organization scoring the highest number of points a prize of $6,000 has been named. The second prize is $4,000 and the third $2,750.

Bands employed by the Exposition are not permitted to contest. All players must be bona fide members, and each musician must have been enrolled at least three months prior to the date of the contest. Each band must send to the bureau the name of its members and a nominal entrance fee.

Festival Hall concerts by massed bands will be given at 7:30 each day during the contest, in which all contesting bands will take part under the direction of a distinguished conductor. All bands entering must agree to play one concert in addition to the competing concert and massed concerts.

A separate programme has been prepared by the Bureau of Music for each class, and each band will play through the full programme of its class. The numbers in all three programmes are by eminent composers and are chosen with the view of bringing out the qualities of the bands performing them. The list of composers includes Wagner, Gounod, Offenbach, Verdi, Saint-Saens, Bizet, Strauss and Leoncavallo.

WEATHER AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Cool Nights and Delightful Indian Summer to Be Expected at St. Louis.

Usually the warmest month of the year, July proved to be one of the most pleasant of the World's Fair season, the average temperature being 67 degrees, a record lower than that made by either Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati or Chicago. The weather bureau records show that the temperatures in St. Louis during July were just between the extremes recorded at New Orleans and St. Paul, cities located at great variance.

August in St. Louis is a month of cool nights, and September and October are the most delightful months of the year. It is that period known as Indian summer, when the foliage and birds linger to challenge the coming winter. Nowhere on the American continent is there a spot more delightful than the World's Fair city, a garden of blooming flowers and spraying fountains.

St. Louis, like all cities, experienced several hot days during July, but her highest temperature recorded was 93 degrees against 94 degrees registered by the thermometer at Chicago. On the same day the mercury rose to 96 degrees in Philadelphia, and scores of heat prostrations were reported from New York and Boston.

The relative humidity shows St. Louis to be about normal. Assuming absolutely no moisture in the atmosphere to be zero and absolute wetness to be 100, the relative humidities for July, taken from the records of more than twenty years, Boston shows 70.6, New York 72.2, Philadelphia 68.6, Cincinnati 64.6, Chicago 66.9 and St. Louis 66.3. The same degree of heat in two places, with different degrees of humidity, would cause it to seem the hotter at the point of greater density.

St. Louis may therefore rightly claim to be a summer resort this summer, positively one of the most comfortable and delightful places on the map.

TEAS THAT ARE WORTH FORTUNES

Twelve Hundred Kinds Are in China's Show at the World's Fair—The Most Populous Nation of the World For the First Time Makes an Exhibit Worthy of Her Greatness.

Many expositions of stupendous character make up the World's Fair of 1904. Each part is a vast and distinct show. Each building shelters many acres of wonderful things—wonderful because they are the choicest of their kind. Every nation on the globe is represented. Every state and territory is here with its best and making the most of its greatest opportunity.

The fact that China has not been a large exhibitor at world's fairs gives to her great exhibit here a prominence quite exceptional. It is a wonderland of ingenious productions. We know China best by reason of her extensive exports of teas, which have found a vast market in the United States for generations. Her commercial interests therefore prompted her to make a display of teas that we should not forget.

In sealed glass jars China displays in the Liberal Arts Palace some 1,200 kinds of tea. Young Hyson and Old Hyson have a string of tea relations longer than the genealogical chain of a Plymouth Rock. They are neatly selected "chops," in the language of the tea farmer, and these classes do not embrace medicinal teas, which are quite another lot in the rather modest number of 400.

The teas exhibited vary in price from a few cents a pound to some rare and exclusive kinds that are worth their weight in gold, the tea in the latter cases being placed on one side of the scales and pure gold on the other—that is to say, the tea of this expensive kind is worth about $20 gold an ounce. Only a very small quantity of this exclusive leaf is exhibited, and it is grown in carefully guarded tea plantations or gardens right under the shadows of the great wall of China. Its cultivation is prohibited for any use save for the imperial family of China and a few of the favored high officials.

Mention has been made of the word "chop" in connection with tea, and it may be interesting to the everyday reader to know what the word actually signifies. The tea leaf is grown in various districts of the Chinese empire on large areas of ground which are often mistaken for single plantations. This is hardly ever the case, as the large tracts are very often owned by hundreds of different men, whose individual plots of ground bearing the tea plants are carefully mapped out, so that each individual owner may cultivate and pick his own crop of tea. Each owner likewise marks his own tea and puts his own special mark, or "chop," on the packages. Hence the term "chop" signifies an individual growth or picking of tea by one owner. In an area of tea land of, say, a thousand acres, all apparently under one ownership, there may be some forty, fifty or more owners of the plantation and consequently a like number of "chops" of tea.

It must not be imagined that all these different owners of the tea get the same price for their commodity—far from it, as each of these individual tea growers has his own secrets for improving the quality and flavor of tea. Take, for instance, the Amoy and Fuchan districts, whence most of the tea for the United States comes. The owners of "chops" of tea varying from 10 to 200 chests of 56 pounds each bring samples of their goods to the various foreign merchants for sale. These latter turn the Chinese tea growers over to the good offices of the foreign or American professional tea taster, who passes on the goods as to price. The tea taster has the samples infused, not boiled, in his presence and passes upon the quality, flavor, twang and manner of curing, fixing a price accordingly, from which there is never any variation and which the tea grower must accept or go elsewhere to dispose of his wares. In a single tract of tea land like the one cited above the price has ranged from 14 cents, the lowest, to 48½ cents, the highest, per pound among sixty-one different tea producers. A matter of great moment that also figures in the price of tea is that very often tea from the same district will have the various "chops" blended together in order to produce special flavors.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN ON THE WORLD'S FAIR

What Distinguished Statesmen and Others Say of the Educational and Inspiring Exposition at St. Louis.

The public utterances of distinguished men who have visited the world's fair have but one note, and that of emphatic praise. Here are some of their comments:

Hon. John Hay, secretary of state: "I have never seen nor heard of anything so fine."

Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury: "Any father of a bright boy can afford to send him to the Fair simply to study any one of at least a thousand exhibits."

Hon. Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio: "A visit of ten days by a man of ordinary aptness and appreciative capacity to the Fair is almost equal to a postgraduate course in a university."

Hon. Benjamin F. Odell, governor of New York: "St. Louis has been badly misrepresented by accounts which say that her weather is unbearable. The Fair is wonderful."

Hon. George C. Pardee, governor of California: "The governor of the Golden State, who has spent all his life within her borders, finds that he knew only a little about his state until he came to the Fair and saw all her varied products assembled together."

Hon. Albert B. Cummins, governor of Iowa: "The Louisiana Purchase Exposition is on the grandest scale of any exposition the world has ever seen."

Hon. Richard Yates, governor of Illinois: "The more I see of the Exposition the more I enjoy it."

Hon. Fennimore Chatterton, governor of Wyoming: "I wish the Fair the greatest success. It certainly deserves it."

Hon. Franklin Murphy, governor of New Jersey: "It is well worth coming from New Jersey to see even a small part of this Fair."

Hon. A. B. White, governor of West Virginia: "I cannot speak too strongly of the greatness of this Fair."

Hon. William J. Bryan: "The Exposition is an unparalleled wonder."

Hon. John Sharp Williams, member of congress from Mississippi: "The most wonderful thing of its kind."

Hon. Hoke G. Smith, of Georgia, formerly secretary of interior under President Cleveland: "I am highly pleased with the Exposition and believe it to be one of the triumphs of modern civilization."

Hon. Perry Belmont of New York: "In magnitude and beauty the Fair is wonderful. It is worth coming a long distance to see."

Hon. Daniel J. Campau, chairman of the Michigan delegation to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis: "It is positively sinful for parents to fail to bring their children to see the Fair."

M. Paul Dupuy, editor of Le Petit Parisien of Paris, France: "I admire the Exposition for its immensity, its spirit of the sublime, its general beauty and its completeness."

Prince George of Bavaria: "I have never seen anything prettier than the St. Louis World's Fair buildings when outlined at night with their millions of electric lights."

Hon. Louis E. McComas of Maryland: "The greatest Fair in the world."

Hon. John F. Dryden of New Jersey: "The people have no idea of the greatness of the Exposition. Every American should see it."

T. P. Shants, president of the Clover Leaf route of Chicago: "The Fair is a big success and will continue to become a greater success as it progresses."

WAGE EARNERS AT THE FAIR

Prominent Men Planning to Help Workers See the Great Exposition.

Wage earners of America are to see the World's Fair by tens of thousands under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. A new bureau of the Federation has just been established at St. Louis upon the World's Fair grounds. Back of the movement are Grover Cleveland, David R. Francis, Andrew Carnegie, Cornelius N. Bliss and others. Plans are making to have a vast number of the wage earners of the United States see the World's Fair, the most glorious spectacle of the age and the most influential factor in the education of the American citizen.

The bureau is in charge of Miss Gertrude Beeks, secretary of the Federation's welfare department, of which Mr. H. H. Vreeland, head of the street railway system of New York city, is chairman. The bureau headquarters is in the east end of the Palace of Transportation, on the ground floor. The Exposition management is in hearty accord with this movement on the part of the Federation to induce the large manufacturers and other employers of labor to provide ways and means for the wage earners of America to visit the Exposition. President Francis is displaying personal interest in the undertaking by affording the Federation every facility for the consummation of its efforts, and in this connection he has directed Theodore Hardee, assistant to the secretary, to co-operate with Miss Beeks and Ralph M. Ensley, chairman of the Federation's executive council, in every possible way.

The Exposition management has also equipped this bureau with clerical assistance and a full supply of World's Fair literature. The bureau will be used as headquarters for all wage earners coming to the Exposition under its auspices. The aim of the Federation is to make it feasible for the largest possible proportion of wage earners to visit St. Louis and see the World's Fair. It will see that they are met at the depot by responsible persons and conducted to suitable lodgings, where they will be treated fairly.

There will also be furnished, free of charge, appropriate itineraries indicating the points of interest to be seen within a limit of one week, which is about the average time each party will spend here. It will also indicate the objects of special interest to various craftsmen in their particular lines, so that they may devote as much time as possible to the objects of peculiar interest to them. These and many other efforts will be made to help all wage earners to enjoy the benefits of this great Exposition comfortably and at an expense within their means.

What Should the Young Man Do to Succeed?

By THOMAS N. HART, Former Mayor of Boston

THE question of what a young man should do, what means he should take, in order that he may achieve success in life, DEPENDS ENTIRELY UPON THE YOUNG MAN HIMSELF.

The young man who wants to succeed, who is willing to take measures that will make him successful, is a success from the very first. In every establishment where a number of people are employed you will find that a certain number of the young men or boys who come in immediately make themselves useful, so useful, in fact, that they find that people cannot get along very well without them.

THESE ARE THE BOYS OR YOUNG MEN WHO ARE NOT CONSTANTLY LOOKING AT THE CLOCK TO SEE HOW SOON THEY CAN GET THE SHUTTERS UP AND GET HOME AND OUT TO "FUN," AS THEY CALL IT. WHEN THE YOUNG MAN'S ATTENTION IS DIVIDED BETWEEN CLOCK AND DUTY, THE CLOCK GAINS NOTHING BUT TIME, AND DUTY IS NOT DONE.

No, the young man who succeeds is he who is looking all the time to see if there is not something that he can do to make business go a little better than at the present time. And success, it seems to me, means that whole story through life from beginning to end.

If, on the contrary, the young man is not thus striving to do his best, if he is not endeavoring to find ways to make himself more and more useful to his employers or his superiors, then, the chances are, he remains a hewer of wood and a drawer of water all his life. And HE HONESTLY THINKS THAT THE FATES ARE AGAINST HIM, WHEN, AS WE CAN PLAINLY SEE, THERE IS NOTHING AGAINST HIM EXCEPT HIS OWN NEGLIGENCE.

But there is a good deal to be done by the young man besides merely attending to business in the store or factory or wherever he may be employed. One of the important things he should do is to select good books to read for a half hour each day. The right kind of books and a serious intention of learning will make him, at thirty, A FIRST RATE SCHOLAR, IF SUCH HE DESIRES TO BE.

Again, every day of his life he should make it in his way to talk with men of affairs. Let him get an idea from such men, and let him come to realize the fact that every morning when he arises he knows a little more than he knew on the previous morning.

THIS SCHEME OR PLAN OR PROGRAMME CARRIED OUT FOR BUT A FEW YEARS, AND THE SUCCESS OF THE YOUNG MAN OR BOY IS ASSURED. FROM THESE GENERAL RULES THE AMBITIOUS YOUNG MAN OR BOY CAN BUILD A PLAN OF HIS OWN. BUT THEY SHOULD BE A PART OF IT.

When Human Brotherhood Will Be Established

By the Rev. Dr. LYMAN ABBOTT, Editor of the Outlook

THE COURSE OF HISTORY HAS BEEN TOWARD SOCIALISM.

There was barter when one man found another could do better than he himself something which he desired. Then followed trade, commerce, manufactures. Later came the discovery that steam, electricity, powers of nature, God given, could do the drudgery if they could only be applied.

The moment these discoveries were made there came the demand for organization of capital or of that which man was able to save by his industry after satisfying the demands for the necessities of life. As soon as manufactures are established you must organize hours of labor and conditions under which that labor is performed.

ORGANIZATION IS A RESULT OF CIVILIZATION. THE DAILY PAPERS ARE CONSTANTLY DISCUSSING THE QUESTION, "SHALL LABOR BE ORGANIZED?" AND THE QUESTION IS REALLY, "SHALL LABOR HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY ABOUT IT?"

I believe in democracy, I believe in my fellow man, in God as the father of all. Men must have something to say about their own destiny and their own lives. WE CANNOT HAVE A COUNTRY WHERE ALL THE QUESTIONS ARE SETTLED DEMOCRATICALLY AND THE LABOR QUESTION SETTLED AUTOCRATICALLY. We tried the autocratic system to labor in the south and the average age of the negro was seven years.

Wherever the organization is necessary there the voice of labor is heard. Organized capital and organized labor are developments of the century we cannot get rid of. The organization of capital and the organization of labor must be voluntary. Wherever there is a blow at the individual there is a blow at all organized labor and all freedom of industry.

THERE IS AT PRESENT A MOVEMENT TOWARD THE EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH. THE LABORER HAS CONFIDENCE IN HIS BROTHER LABORER, THE CAPITALIST IN HIS BROTHER CAPITALIST. WHEN EACH IS WILLING TO STEP OVER THE BARRIERS AND HAVE CONFIDENCE IN EACH OTHER, THEN WILL BE ESTABLISHED A BROTHERHOOD OF THE HUMAN RACE.

The Characteristic That Succeeds

By JAMES B. DILL, Lawyer, "The Father of Trusts"

ALTHOUGH combination is the fashion today, the only successful combination is the combination under the leadership of strong men. THE NEARER YOU GET TO THE TOP OF ANY COMBINATION OF MEN, MONEY OR INFLUENCE YOU WILL FIND THAT THE MEN IN CONTROL ARE INDIVIDUALLY CHARACTERISTIC. THEY MAY BE DIFFERENT, BUT THEY ARE STRONG IN INDIVIDUALISM.

Festival Hall concerts by massed bands will be given at 7:30 each day during the contest, in which all contesting bands will take part under the direction of a distinguished conductor. All bands entering must agree to play one concert in addition to the competing concert and massed concerts.

A separate programme has been prepared by the Bureau of Music for each class, and each band will play through the full programme of its class. The numbers in all three programmes are by eminent composers and are chosen with the view of bringing out the qualities of the bands performing them. The list of composers includes Wagner, Gounod, Offenbach, Verdi, Saint-Saens, Bizet, Strauss and Leoncavallo.

WEATHER AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Cool Nights and Delightful Indian Summer to Be Expected at St. Louis.

Usually the warmest month of the year, July proved to be one of the most pleasant of the World's Fair season, the average temperature being 67 degrees, a record lower than that made by either Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati or Chicago. The weather bureau records show that the temperatures in St. Louis during July were just between the extremes recorded at New Orleans and St. Paul, cities located at great variance.

August in St. Louis is a month of cool nights, and September and October are the most delightful months of the year. It is that period known as Indian summer, when the foliage and birds linger to challenge the coming winter. Nowhere on the American continent is there a spot more delightful than the World's Fair city, a garden of blooming flowers and spraying fountains.

St. Louis, like all cities, experienced several hot days during July, but her highest temperature recorded was 93 degrees against 94 degrees registered by the thermometer at Chicago. On the same day the mercury rose to 96 degrees in Philadelphia, and scores of heat prostrations were reported from New York and Boston.

The relative humidity shows St. Louis to be about normal. Assuming absolutely no moisture in the atmosphere to be zero and absolute wetness to be 100, the relative humidities for July, taken from the records of more than twenty years, Boston shows 70.6, New York 72.2, Philadelphia 68.6, Cincinnati 64.6, Chicago 66.9 and St. Louis 66.3. The same degree of heat in two places, with different degrees of humidity, would cause it to seem the hotter at the point of greater density.

St. Louis may therefore rightly claim to be a summer resort this summer, positively one of the most comfortable and delightful places on the map.

TEAS THAT ARE WORTH FORTUNES

Twelve Hundred Kinds Are in China's Show at the World's Fair—The Most Populous Nation of the World For the First Time Makes an Exhibit Worthy of Her Greatness.

Many expositions of stupendous character make up the World's Fair of 1904. Each part is a vast and distinct show. Each building shelters many acres of wonderful things—wonderful because they are the choicest of their kind. Every nation on the globe is represented. Every state and territory is here with its best and making the most of its greatest opportunity.

The fact that China has not been a large exhibitor at world's fairs gives to her great exhibit here a prominence quite exceptional. It is a wonderland of ingenious productions. We know China best by reason of her extensive exports of teas, which have found a vast market in the United States for generations. Her commercial interests therefore prompted her to make a display of teas that we should not forget.

In sealed glass jars China displays in the Liberal Arts Palace some 1,200 kinds of tea. Young Hyson and Old Hyson have a string of tea relations longer than the genealogical chain of a Plymouth Rock. They are neatly selected "chops," in the language of the tea farmer, and these classes do not embrace medicinal teas, which are quite another lot in the rather modest number of 400.

The teas exhibited vary in price from a few cents a pound to some rare and exclusive kinds that are worth their weight in gold, the tea in the latter cases being placed on one side of the scales and pure gold on the other—that is to say, the tea of this expensive kind is worth about $20 gold an ounce. Only a very small quantity of this exclusive leaf is exhibited, and it is grown in carefully guarded tea plantations or gardens right under the shadows of the great wall of China. Its cultivation is prohibited for any use save for the imperial family of China and a few of the favored high officials.

Mention has been made of the word "chop" in connection with tea, and it may be interesting to the everyday reader to know what the word actually signifies. The tea leaf is grown in various districts of the Chinese empire on large areas of ground which are often mistaken for single plantations. This is hardly ever the case, as the large tracts are very often owned by hundreds of different men, whose individual plots of ground bearing the tea plants are carefully mapped out, so that each individual owner may cultivate and pick his own crop of tea. Each owner likewise markets his own tea and puts his own special mark, or "chop," on the packages. Hence the term "chop" signifies an individual growth or picking of tea by one owner. In an area of tea land of, say, a thousand acres, all apparently under one ownership, there may be some forty, fifty or more owners of the plantation and consequently a like number of "chops" of tea.

It must not be imagined that all these different owners of the tea get the same price for their commodity—far from it, as each of these individual tea growers has his own secrets for improving the quality and flavor of tea. Take, for instance, the Amoy and Fuchau districts, whence most of the tea for the United States comes. The owners of "chops" of tea varying from 10 to 200 chests of 56 pounds each bring samples of their goods to the various foreign merchants for sale. These latter turn the Chinese tea growers over to the good offices of the foreign or American professional tea taster, who passes on the goods as to price. The tea taster has the samples infused, not boiled, in his presence and passes upon the quality, flavor, twang and manner of curing, fixing a price accordingly, from which there is never any variation and which the tea grower must accept or go elsewhere to dispose of his wares.

In a single tract of tea land like the one cited above the price has ranged from 14 cents, the lowest, to 48½ cents, the highest, per pound among sixty-one different tea producers. A matter of great moment that also figures in the price of tea is that very often tea from the same district will have the various "chops" blended together in order to produce special flavors.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN ON THE WORLD'S FAIR

What Distinguished Statesmen and Others Say of the Educational and Inspiring Exposition at St. Louis.

The public utterances of distinguished men who have visited the world's fair have but one note, and that of emphatic praise. Here are some of their comments:

Hon. John Hay, secretary of state: "I have never seen nor heard of anything so fine."

Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury: "Any father of a bright boy can afford to send him to the Fair simply to study any one of at least a thousand exhibits."

Hon. Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio: "A visit of ten days by a man of ordinary aptness and appreciative capacity to the Fair is almost equal to a postgraduate course in a university."

Hon. Benjamin B. Odell, governor of New York: "St. Louis has been badly misrepresented by accounts which say that her weather is unbearable. The Fair is wonderful."

Hon. George C. Pardee, governor of California: "The governor of the Golden State, who has spent all his life within her borders, finds that he knew only a little about his state until he came to the Fair and saw all her varied products assembled together."

Hon. Albert B. Cummins, governor of Iowa: "The Louisiana Purchase Exposition is on the grandest scale of any exposition the world has ever seen."

Hon. Richard Yates, governor of Illinois: "The more I see of the Exposition the more I enjoy it."

Hon. Edmund Chatterton, governor of Wyoming: "I wish the Fair the greatest success. It certainly deserves it."

Hon. Franklin Murphy, governor of New Jersey: "It is well worth coming from New Jersey to see even a small part of this Fair."

Hon. A. B. White, governor of West Virginia: "I cannot speak too strongly of the greatness of this Fair."

Hon. William J. Bryan: "The Exposition is an unparalleled wonder."

Hon. John Sharp Williams, member of congress from Mississippi: "The most wonderful thing of its kind."

Hon. Hoke Smith of Georgia, formerly secretary of interior under President Cleveland: "I am highly pleased with the Exposition and believe it to be one of the triumphs of modern civilization."

Hon. Perry Belmont of New York: "In magnitude and beauty the Fair is wonderful. It is worth coming a long distance to see."

Hon. Daniel J. Campau, chairman of the Michigan delegation to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis: "It is positively sinful for parents to fail to bring their children to see the Fair."

M. Paul Dupuy, editor of Le Petit Parisien of Paris, France: "I admire the Exposition for its immensity, its spirit of the sublime, its general beauty and its completeness."

Prince George of Bavaria: "I have never seen anything prettier than the St. Louis World's Fair buildings when outlined at night with their millions of electric lights."

Hon. Louis E. McComas of Maryland: "The greatest Fair in the world."

Hon. John F. Dryden of New Jersey: "The people have no idea of the greatness of the Exposition. Every American should see it."

T. P. Shants, president of the Clover Leaf route of Chicago: "The Fair is a big success and will continue to become a greater success as it progresses."

WAGE EARNERS AT THE FAIR

Prominent Men Planning to Help Workers See the Great Exposition.

Wage earners of America are to see the World's Fair by tens of thousands under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. A new bureau of the Federation has just been established at St. Louis upon the World's Fair grounds. Back of the movement are Grover Cleveland, David R. Francis, Andrew Carnegie, Cornelius N. Bliss and others. Plans are making to have a vast number of the wage earners of the United States see the World's Fair, the most glorious spectacle of the age and the most influential factor in the education of the American citizen.

The bureau is in charge of Miss Gertrude Beeks, secretary of the Federation's welfare department, of which Mr. H. H. Vreeland, head of the street railway system of New York city, is chairman. The bureau headquarters is in the east end of the Palace of Transportation, on the ground floor. The Exposition management is in hearty accord with this movement on the part of the Federation to induce the large manufacturers and other employers of labor to provide ways and means for the wage earners of America to visit the Exposition. President Francis is displaying personal interest in the undertaking by affording the Federation every facility for the consummation of its efforts, and in this connection he has directed Theodore Hardee, assistant to the secretary, to co-operate with Miss Beeks and Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the Federation's executive council, in every possible way.

The Exposition management has also equipped this bureau with clerical assistance and a full supply of World's Fair literature. The bureau will be used as headquarters for all wage earners coming to the Exposition under its auspices. The aim of the Federation is to make it feasible for the largest possible proportion of wage earners to visit St. Louis and see the World's Fair. It will see that they are met at the depot by responsible persons and conducted to suitable lodgings, where they will be treated fairly.

There will also be furnished, free of charge, appropriate itineraries indicating the points of interest to be seen within a limit of one week, which is about the average time each party will spend here. It will also indicate the objects of special interest to various craftsmen in their particular lines, so that they may devote as much time as possible to the objects of peculiar interest to them. These and many other efforts will be made to help all wage earners to enjoy the benefits of this great Exposition comfortably and at an expense within their means.

What Should the Young Man Do to Succeed?

By THOMAS N. HART, Former Mayor of Boston

THE question of what a young man should do, what means he should take, in order that he may achieve success in life, DEPENDS ENTIRELY UPON THE YOUNG MAN HIMSELF.

The young man who wants to succeed, who is willing to take measures that will make him successful, is a success from the very first. In every establishment where a number of people are employed you will find that a certain number of the young men or boys who come in immediately make themselves useful, so useful, in fact, that they find that people cannot get along very well without them.

THESE ARE THE BOYS OR YOUNG MEN WHO ARE NOT CONSTANTLY LOOKING AT THE CLOCK TO SEE HOW SOON THEY CAN GET THE SHUTTERS UP AND GET HOME AND OUT TO "FUN," AS THEY CALL IT. WHEN THE YOUNG MAN'S ATTENTION IS DIVIDED BETWEEN CLOCK AND DUTY, THE CLOCK GAINS NOTHING BUT TIME, AND DUTY IS NOT DONE.

No, the young man who succeeds is he who is looking all the time to see if there is not something that he can do to make business go a little better than at the present time. And success, it seems to me, means that whole story through life from beginning to end.

If, on the contrary, the young man is not thus striving to do his best, if he is not endeavoring to find ways to make himself more and more useful to his employers or his superiors, then, the chances are, he remains a heaver of wood and a drawer of water all his life. And HE HONESTLY THINKS THAT THE FATES ARE AGAINST HIM, WHEN, AS WE CAN PLAINLY SEE, THERE IS NOTHING AGAINST HIM EXCEPT HIS OWN NEGLIGENCE.

But there is a good deal to be done by the young man besides merely attending to business in the store or factory or wherever he may be employed. One of the important things he should do is to select good books to read for a half hour each day. The right kind of books and a serious intention of learning will make him, at thirty, A FIRST RATE SCHOLAR, IF SUCH HE DESIRES TO BE.

Again, every day of his life he should make it in his way to talk with men of affairs. Let him get an idea from such men, and let him come to realize the fact that every morning when he arises he knows a little more than he knew on the previous morning.

THIS SCHEME OR PLAN OR PROGRAMME CARRIED OUT FOR BUT A FEW YEARS, AND THE SUCCESS OF THE YOUNG MAN OR BOY IS ASSURED. FROM THESE GENERAL RULES THE AMBITIOUS YOUNG MAN OR BOY CAN BUILD A PLAN OF HIS OWN. BUT THEY SHOULD BE A PART OF IT.

When Human Brotherhood Will Be Established

By the Rev. Dr. LYMAN ABBOTT, Editor of the Outlook

THE COURSE OF HISTORY HAS BEEN TOWARD SOCIALISM.

There was barter when one man found another could do better than he himself something which he desired. Then followed trade, commerce, manufactures. Later came the discovery that steam, electricity, powers of nature, God given, could do the drudgery if they could only be applied.

The moment these discoveries were made there came the demand for organization of capital or of that which man was able to save by his industry after satisfying the demands for the necessities of life. As soon as manufactures are established you must organize hours of labor and conditions under which that labor is performed.

ORGANIZATION IS A RESULT OF CIVILIZATION. THE DAILY PAPERS ARE CONSTANTLY DISCUSSING THE QUESTION, "SHALL LABOR BE ORGANIZED?" AND THE QUESTION IS REALLY, "SHALL LABOR HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY ABOUT IT?"

I believe in democracy, I believe in my fellow man, in God as the father of all. Men must have something to say about their own destiny and their own lives. WE CANNOT HAVE A COUNTRY WHERE ALL THE QUESTIONS ARE SETTLED DEMOCRATICALLY AND THE LABOR QUESTION SETTLED AUTOCRATICALLY. We tried the autocratic system to labor in the south and the average age of the negro was seven years.

Wherever the organization is necessary there the voice of labor is heard. Organized capital and organized labor are developments of the century we cannot get rid of. The organization of capital and the organization of labor must be voluntary. Wherever there is a blow at the individual there is a blow at all organized labor and all freedom of industry.

THERE IS AT PRESENT A MOVEMENT TOWARD THE EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH. THE LABORER HAS CONFIDENCE IN HIS BROTHER LABORER, THE CAPITALIST IN HIS BROTHER CAPITALIST. WHEN EACH IS WILLING TO STEP OVER THE BARRIERS AND HAVE CONFIDENCE IN EACH OTHER, THEN WILL BE ESTABLISHED A BROTHERHOOD OF THE HUMAN RACE.

The Characteristic That Succeeds

By JAMES B. DILL, Lawyer, "The Father of Trusts"

ALTHOUGH combination is the fashion today, the only successful combination is the combination under the leadership of strong men. THE NEARER YOU GET TO THE TOP OF ANY COMBINATION OF MEN, MONEY OR INFLUENCE YOU WILL FIND THAT THE MEN IN CONTROL ARE INDIVIDUALLY CHARACTERISTIC. THEY MAY BE DIFFERENT, BUT THEY ARE STRONG IN INDIVIDUALISM.

The Proper Age For Marriage

By Governor
EDWIN

MY ADVICE TO GIRLS IS NOT TO MARRY TOO EARLY. IF ASKED THE AGE WHEN GIRLS SHOULD MARRY I SHOULD SAY FROM TWENTY-FOUR TO TWENTY-SIX.

Marriage for the purpose of settling a daughter in life is, as a rule, a failure and an unhappy one. No parent, and especially no true and loving mother, will wish to push her daughter into matrimony before she is fully matured and fitted for the grave responsibilities of married life. Girls just out of school are not equipped for the ordinary household duties of wives and for the cares and trials of motherhood.

THE GIRL WHO MARRIES TOO EARLY MISSES MANY OF THE PLEASURES OF LIFE. She is doomed to spend her youthful days in the trying and taxing cares of motherhood and household duties.

Such marriages are unfortunate. They are entered into without due consideration and frequently before the husband has fully established his business ability and the earning capacity that will enable him to provide for the increasing wants of married life. GIRLS SHOULD BE TAUGHT THAT THERE IS MORE IN LIFE THAN GETTING MARRIED; that when they leave school they owe some service to their parents, and that they should spend some of their days in making the lives of their fathers and mothers easier and brighter.

THE SAME ADVICE PERTAINS TO YOUNG MEN. I have known cases where young men, because they married too soon and before they had established themselves in permanent positions, were compelled to give up good opportunities for advancement because family ties and environments kept them down to one locality. The realization of the mistake of marrying too early has discouraged many a young man, blasted his future, brought disappointment to himself and deprivation and suffering to his family.

I BELIEVE IN MARRIAGE AND WOULD LIKE TO SEE EVERY MAN AND WOMAN MATED IN CONGENIAL COMPANIONSHIP FOR LIFE, BUT I AM OPPOSED TO EARLY AND THOUGHTLESS MARRIAGES.

The Man Is a Fool Who Lives In the Past

By Senator CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW

WE PASS THIS WAY BUT ONCE. We cannot retrace our steps to any preceding milestone. Every time the clock strikes it is both the announcement of the hour upon which we are entering and the knell of the one which is gone. EACH NIGHT MEMORY BALANCES THE BOOKS AND WE KNOW BEFORE WE SLEEP WHETHER THE RESULT IS ON THE RIGHT OR ON THE WRONG SIDE OF OUR ACCOUNT.

The older we grow the more we realize that life is worth the living. We think too little of the fun there is in it. WE ARE TOO PARSIMONIOUS OF LAUGHTER. We do not appreciate as we ought the man or the woman who can make us forget while we are amused. We cannot help the past and that man is a fool who lives in it. TODAY IS A BETTER DAY THAN YESTERDAY!

The secrets of happiness and longevity, in my judgment, are to cherish and cultivate cheerful, hopeful and buoyant spirits. If you haven't them, create them. Enjoy things as they are. The raggedest person I ever saw was a Turkish peasant standing in the field, clothed in bits of old carpet. But the combination of color made him a thing of beauty, if not a joy forever.

LET US NEVER LOSE OUR FAITH IN HUMAN NATURE, NO MATTER HOW OFTEN WE ARE DECEIVED. DO NOT LET THE DECEPTIONS DESTROY CONFIDENCE IN THE REAL, HONEST GOODNESS, GENEROSITY, HUMANITY AND FRIENDSHIP THAT EXIST IN THE WORLD. THEY ARE OVERWHELMINGLY IN THE MAJORITY.

When Wives Should Be Wage Earners

By Dr. SIMON N. PATTEN, Professor of Political Economy,
University of Pennsylvania

THE whole social problem would be solved were the wife to become an income producer. Of course, I refer to the young married couples, where each before marriage is earning between $10 and $12 a week. I BELIEVE THAT EACH SHOULD CONTINUE A WAGE EARNER until the husband's income increases to at least $20, when the wife can add more to the utility of his money by withdrawing from the wage-producing class.

As the income from the man increases from $10 to $20 a week, that of the woman remains stationary at $10, and then, giving herself up to the home, they both can get better and more pleasure out of the husband's income. The social pressure on the woman is to force her from the employed classes. But from my point of view I SEE NO OBJECTION TO THE WIFE WORKING as long as it is to the better utilization of the income of the husband.

The Proper Age For Marriage

By Governor EDWIN WARFIELD Of Maryland

MY ADVICE TO GIRLS IS NOT TO MARRY TOO EARLY. IF ASKED THE AGE WHEN GIRLS SHOULD MARRY I SHOULD SAY FROM TWENTY-FOUR TO TWENTY-SIX.

Marriage for the purpose of settling a daughter in life is, as a rule, a failure and an unhappy one. No parent, and especially no true and loving mother, will wish to push her daughter into matrimony before she is fully matured and fitted for the grave responsibilities of married life. Girls just out of school are not equipped for the ordinary household duties of wives and for the cares and trials of motherhood.

THE GIRL WHO MARRIES TOO EARLY MISSES MANY OF THE PLEASURES OF LIFE. She is doomed to spend her youthful days in the trying and taxing cares of motherhood and household duties.

Such marriages are unfortunate. They are entered into without due consideration and frequently before the husband has fully established his business ability and the earning capacity that will enable him to provide for the increasing wants of married life. GIRLS SHOULD BE TAUGHT THAT THERE IS MORE IN LIFE THAN GETTING MARRIED; that when they leave school they owe some service to their parents, and that they should spend some of their days in making the lives of their fathers and mothers easier and brighter.

THE SAME ADVICE PERTAINS TO YOUNG MEN. I have known cases where young men, because they married too soon and before they had established themselves in permanent positions, were compelled to give up good opportunities for advancement because family ties and environments kept them down to one locality. The realization of the mistake of marrying too early has discouraged many a young man, blasted his future, brought disappointment to himself and deprivation and suffering to his family.

I BELIEVE IN MARRIAGE AND WOULD LIKE TO SEE EVERY MAN AND WOMAN MATED IN CONGENIAL COMPANIONSHIP FOR LIFE, BUT I AM OPPOSED TO EARLY AND THOUGHTLESS MARRIAGES.

The Man Is a Fool Who Lives In the Past

By Senator CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW

WE PASS THIS WAY BUT ONCE. We cannot retrace our steps to any preceding milestone. Every time the clock strikes it is both the announcement of the hour upon which we are entering and the knell of the one which is gone. EACH NIGHT MEMORY BALANCES THE BOOKS AND WE KNOW BEFORE WE SLEEP WHETHER THE RESULT IS ON THE RIGHT OR ON THE WRONG SIDE OF OUR ACCOUNT.

The older we grow the more we realize that life is worth the living. We think too little of the fun there is in it. WE ARE TOO PARSIMONIOUS OF LAUGHTER. We do not appreciate as we ought the man or the woman who can make us forget while we are amused. We cannot help the past and that man is a fool who lives in it. TODAY IS A BETTER DAY THAN YESTERDAY!

The secrets of happiness and longevity, in my judgment, are to cherish and cultivate cheerful, hopeful and buoyant spirits. If you haven't them, create them. Enjoy things as they are. The raggedest person I ever saw was a Turkish peasant standing in the field, clothed in bits of old carpet. But the combination of color made him a thing of beauty, if not a joy forever.

LET US NEVER LOSE OUR FAITH IN HUMAN NATURE, NO MATTER HOW OFTEN WE ARE DECEIVED. DO NOT LET THE DECEPTIONS DESTROY CONFIDENCE IN THE REAL, HONEST GOODNESS, GENEROSITY, HUMANITY AND FRIENDSHIP THAT EXIST IN THE WORLD. THEY ARE OVERWHELMINGLY IN THE MAJORITY.

When Wives Should Be Wage Earners

By Dr. SIMON N. PATTEN, Professor of Political Economy, University of Pennsylvania

THE whole social problem would be solved were the wife to become an income producer. Of course, I refer to the young married couples, where each before marriage is earning between $10 and $12 a week. I BELIEVE THAT EACH SHOULD CONTINUE A WAGE EARNER until the husband's income increases to at least $20, when the wife can add more to the utility of his money by withdrawing from the wage-producing class.

As the income from the man increases from $10 to $20 a week, that of the woman remains stationary at $10, and then, giving herself up to the home, they both can get better and more pleasure out of the husband's income. The social pressure on the woman is to force her from the employed classes. But from my point of view I SEE NO OBJECTION TO THE WIFE WORKING as long as it is to the better utilization of the income of the husband.

TO MY MIND, FROM AN ECONOMIC AND MORAL VIEWPOINT, IT IS DESIRABLE THAT PERSONS OF SMALL MONEY EARNING CAPACITY SHOULD BE MARRIED, PROVIDED BOTH CONTINUE WAGE EARNERS. MARRIAGE UNDER THESE CONDITIONS MERELY MEANS A MORAL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL UPLIFTING.

The state fair is going to be a "corker" this year and no mistake.

This is a republican year, and none but republicans will be put on guard.

Things are moving in the orient, at least the Russians are getting exercise enough to ward off an attack of dyspepsia.

Will our democratic friends claim that dollar wheat is a curse to the nation and that the republican party is responsible for the calamity? The republican ticket will be good enough for the tiller of the soil after he has pocketed his wheat money.

Candidates for office are as active as though the primary election was to be held next week instead of the 20th of September. If the present gait is kept up for the next month between harvest and politics our farmer friends will have no chance to get lonesome.

The republican party is the party that does things and can point to its record and the fulfillment of its pledges, while the democratic party has no record to which it cares to refer and the keeping of its promises is something that future generations will have to attest to.

The last day for filing is August 31 in order to get your name on the primary election ballot.

The democrats will nominate Geo. W. Peck to head their ticket in Wisconsin, by which action they hope to cause a peck of trouble for the republicans.

The Little Falls Transcript suggests that it is up to the Brainerd fire department to elect a city council that will allow them to form a relief association.

The Minneapolis Journal does not desire to be classed with the republican papers of the state. It was not necessary to publish this for the general public understood that point long ago.

Brainerd is the best town in Northern Minnesota today, and there are those who seem to think times are quiet here. Just refresh your memory and you will remember that a year ago now the same condition existed and the year before that and so on backward. It's merely the midsummer lull in business.

There isn't much to be gained by drifting into the class known as knockers, says the Stillwater Gazette, and there is more truth than poetry in the saying. If you go into a contest and are defeated, don't go around like a bear with a sore head. Look pleasant, take your medicine, and support your party nominees. Of course you could have made better selections but the majority was against you, and the only manly thing to do now is to come into line and be a booster.

Under a law passed by the last legislature all election returns from precincts fifteen miles away from the county seat must be sent by the election clerk to the county auditor by registered mail instead of by special messenger as in the past. The cost of a registered letter is but a trifle, eight cents in addition to the regular postage on the letter, while the cost of sending a messenger at $1 per day and ten cents per mile for going and coming amounted to a nice little sum, especially in the remote precincts. In this county 19 out of 33 precincts will come under the operation of the new law and the saving will be considerable, although there will be some delay in getting the returns, especially from the sections of the county not having daily mails.

The band concert last night was enjoyed by a very large crowd. It was one of the best programs yet rendered by the popular organization, the Brainerd Elk band.

John Cullen, confidential clerk to Manager Cleary, of the Brainerd Grocery company, returned today from St. Paul where he has been hobnobbing out on Summit hill.

The Dispatch was in error yesterday in stating that Warren L. Benjamin was going to California. It is Walter S. Benjamin who has worked 14 years for the Brainerd Lumber Co., and is now going to California.

W. E. Kelley, who is the trainer for Oscar Moxie, received a letter from Jimmy Potts, the champion light weight boxer of the northwest, in which he states that he is willing to sign an agreement for a "go" in this city on Labor Day night.

The work of overhauling the upper floor in the M. J. Reilly building is about finished and Mr. and Mrs. Reilly expect to move back in a few days. Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Dunn will also occupy a flat in this building and the rooms are being fixed up in elegant style.

There will be no prayer meeting in the First Congregational church tonight and also on the evening of the 25th. The pastor will begin a series of Bible studies Thursday, Sept. 1, and continue until the close of December. Topic, "Light on the Great Doctrines of the Bible."

Rev. William J. Palm, of Brainerd, Minn., is a visitor to Mt. Clemens who sees a great future for this city if we can eradicate certain evils. He conducted the services at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening and gave a fine discussion which was greatly appreciated by a large audience.—Mt. Clemens Daily Leader.

A. Brostedt, Great Northern passenger agent with headquarters at Duluth, has just bought of P. B. Nettleton, lots 8 and 9, block 217 in first addition between Quince and Rosewood. He buys them for his mother, who will at once erect a nice house and move here from Moorhead. Mrs. Brostedt was an old friend of the Elg family before they came from the old country. It is through the pleasant relations with the estimable Elg family that Mrs. Brostedt selected Brainerd for a home.

A SPY'S CLOSE CALL.

Rescued From Impending Death by a Clever Newspaper Ruse.

On the battlefield of Antietam Mr. McClure met General William J. Palmer, then a captain, and strongly urged him not to continue his movements as a spy after Lee had crossed into Virginia, but the gallant young soldier gave no promise as to what he would be likely to do, and the very first night after Lee crossed the Potomac he was again in Lee's camp and brought back important information to General McClure.

Again he returned and entered the Confederate lines, and when he did not report after a week it was assumed that he had been captured and would probably be executed as a spy. He had been captured, was tried and condemned as a spy and sentenced to be executed, but he was saved by a clever newspaper device determined upon after a conference in Philadelphia between President J. Edgar Thomson of the Pennsylvania railroad, Colonel Scott and Mr. McClure. Thomson took special interest in Palmer, as he had been his secretary, and was much attached to him.

It was decided that Washington dispatches should be prepared for all of the Philadelphia morning papers announcing the arrival at the capital of Captain William J. Palmer, stating in what particular lines of the enemy he had operated, and adding that he had brought much important information that could not be given to the public at that time. These dispatches appeared next morning in all the Philadelphia papers, prominently displayed, and of course reached the southern lines within forty-eight hours.

The result was that Captain Palmer's identity was never established in Richmond, and his execution was thus suspended. In a little while, when some prisoners had been exchanged, there was a vacancy made in the list of the exchanged men by death. Palmer's friends had him take the place and name of the dead soldier, and he thus escaped and returned to the service.

BODY OF MISS DAHL FOUND.

Remains of Murdered Woman in Badly Decomposed Condition.

Remidji, Minn., Aug. 18.—The body of Miss Argot Dahl who, together with her father, disappeared from her claim near Quiring in April, was found Wednesday afternoon by Tom Doohar, a neighbor while making hay.

The body was found in a brush heap 5 mile and a half from her claim and in a badly decomposed condition, which would indicate that the remains had been there since the mysterious disappearance five months ago.

Paul Fournier and Eugene Caldwell, who are under arrest here now charged with the murder of Dahl, were to have their preliminary examination today, but the hearing will probably be adjourned pending new developments.

DEVOTED TO AMUSEMENTS.

Third Day of Biennial Encampment of Knights of Pythias.

Louisville, Aug. 18.—Social and amusement events predominated during the third day of the biennial encampment of the Knights of Pythias. The principal event of the day was to have been the review and inspection of the uniform rank by General Carnahan and staff, but owing to the poor quality of horses offered by the contractors, the review was abandoned, much to the disappointment of the public and the Knights.

The supreme lodge held only a brief meeting, the entire time being consumed by the calling of the roll for new business and grievances.

The Rathbone sisters and the Pythian sisterhood held meetings and discussed plans for the amalgamation of the two orders. The prize drills are under way.

The state fair is going to be a "corker" this year and no mistake.

This is a republican year, and none but republicans will be put on guard.

Things are moving in the orient, at least the Russians are getting exercise enough to ward off an attack of dyspepsia.

Will our democratic friends claim that dollar wheat is a curse to the nation and that the republican party is responsible for the calamity? The republican ticket will be good enough for the tiller of the soil after he has pocketed his wheat money.

Candidates for office are as active as though the primary election was to be held next week instead of the 20th of September. If the present gait is kept up for the next month between harvest and politics our farmer friends will have no chance to get lonesome.

The republican party is the party that does things and can point to its record and the fulfillment of its pledges, while the democratic party has no record to which it cares to refer and the keeping of its promises is something that future generations will have to attest to.

The last day for filing is August 31 in order to get your name on the primary election ballot.

The democrats will nominate Geo. W. Peck to head their ticket in Wisconsin, by which action they hope to cause a peck of trouble for the republicans.

The Little Falls Transcript suggests that it is up to the Brainerd fire department to elect a city council that will allow them to form a relief association.

The Minneapolis Journal does not desire to be classed with the republican papers of the state. It was not necessary to publish this for the general public understood that point long ago.

Brainerd is the best town in Northern Minnesota today, and there are those who seem to think times are quiet here. Just refresh your memory and you will remember that a year ago now the same condition existed and the year before that and so on backward. It's merely the midsummer lull in business.

There isn't much to be gained by drifting into the class known as knockers, says the Stillwater Gazette, and there is more truth than poetry in the saying. If you go into a contest and are defeated, don't go around like a bear with a sore head. Look pleasant, take your medicine, and support your party nominees. Of course you could have made better selections but the majority was against you, and the only manly thing to do now is to come into line and be a booster.

Under a law passed by the last legislature all election returns from precincts fifteen miles away from the county seat must be sent by the election clerk to the county auditor by registered mail instead of by special messenger as in the past. The cost of a registered letter is but a trifle, eight cents in addition to the regular postage on the letter, while the cost of sending a messenger at $1 per day and ten cents per mile for going and coming amounted to a nice little sum, especially in the remote precincts. In this county 19 out of 33 precincts will come under the operation of the new law and the saving will be considerable, although there will be some delay in getting the returns, especially from the sections of the county not having daily mails.

THE BODY OF MISS
AAGOT DAHL FOUND
In a Clump of Bushes Two Miles
from a Shanty on Her Home-
stead Near Quiring

SEEMS TO BE DOUBLE MURDER
Little of the Details Regarding the Condition of the Body when
Found are Obtainable

The body of Aagot Dahl, who with her father suddenly disappeared from their shanties on their homesteads near Quiring up on the M. & L., some time ago has been found.

The body was found yesterday morning by a farmer who was making hay in a meadow about two miles from the young girl's cabin. It was lying in a clump of trees. The farmer at once sent word to Bemidji and notified the coroner, but up to the time the train left Blackduck today but few of the details of the finding of the body had been learned. The farmer did not examine the body to ascertain if it was mutilated, but the coroner left Bemidji at once for the scene.

The shanty of N. O. Dahl, father of the girl, whose body was found some time ago buried beneath the roots of some trees near the house, was three miles from Quiring. A half a mile south of this is the little log shack where the daughter stayed on her homestead. The body was found two miles from this shack and it is presumed that the murderer or murderers took the girl from the shack to this quiet nook and the heavens only know what transpired before she was brutally slain.

The two were living on their claims and it is said that the old man had a large quantity of money with him.

They finally disappeared and it was thought that they had gone to Crookston to visit with relatives, but further investigation proved that this was not the case and the belief commenced to gain ground that the twain had been murdered. Then the old man's body was found and yesterday the girl's body was also found.

Neighbors searched the woods for weeks, but no trace of the missing pair could be found. Relatives accepted the theory of murder and later offered a reward of $250 for information that would lead to the recovery of the bodies dead or alive. Later the amount was raised to $500 and the county and state each swelled the reward with like amounts. Experienced detectives from the twin cities and one of the most competent men of the Chicago Pinkerton bureau worked for weeks on the case without developing a clue that was satisfactory.

Both the cabins were searched thoroughly. In Miss Dahl's cabin the bed was broken down and a button from a woodsman's mackinaw jacket was found. Besides the detectives a large force of experienced woodsmen scoured the woods in vain.

Eczema, scald head, hives, itchiness of the skin of any sort instantly relieved, permanently cured. Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

The Wrestling Match.

The contestants in the big wrestling match at the Brainerd opera house on August 24 are working hard. Moxie is being put through a very good course of training by Trainer Kelly, the latter devoting his entire time these days to the big fellow. He is taking a run of from four to five miles morning and night and then goes on the mat for two or three hours each time. The time is getting short but the men are in the best of condition and the match will be something exceptional in this line. Chas. Moth, as everyone knows now, is a wrestler almost second to none in the world and if Moxie defeats him in this match he will be heralded as the champion of the entire country.

A RULING OF JUDGE SPOONER
Said to Have Raised Consterna-
tion with the State Game and
Fish Commission
RULING IN A RAILROAD CASE
Man from Northome Wanted Deer
Heads Shipped but Company
Refused to Do So.

The state game and fish commission has been advised of a decision by Judge Spooner, of Bemidji, which is regarded as a severe blow to the work of the commission in preventing big game being shipped to market, says the St. Paul Globe.

The case was brought by Robert Schneider, of Northome, against the Minnesota & International Railway company. Schneider sought by mandamus to compel the railroad company to carry certain deer heads from Northome to Bemidji. The railroad company refused on the ground that Schneider did not have a license to shoot big game and that the heads were not tagged by the game and fish commission as required by statute.

S. F. Fullerton, executive agent of the game and fish commission, said yesterday that if left in its present condition, the effect of the decision would be to destroy the law protecting big game from unlicensed hunters, and that the commission would cause an appeal to be taken to the supreme court.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS GET GAY
While Spending a Few Days at Mille Lacs
They Get into Mixup with Owner of
Steamer Reminica

From reports received from Mille Lacs lake it is concluded that a dozen or more university students who went out to the lake for a brief outing had a rather gay time of it for a few days at least they succeeded admirably in making things rather warm for George McLaughlin, the owner of the steamer Reminica.

They got on the lake with the boat and when they got through with it it is claimed they swiped the life preservers, bedding and everything they could lay their hands to. It is thought this was all done in fun and that it was one of the little things they thought necessary to make a good well rounded outing. It was not so funny from the standpoint of the owner of the boat, however, and he had the young men all arrested.

It is learned that they fixed the matter all up before going to the hearing and nothing was done further in the matter.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.
"SWEET CLOVER."
"Sweet Clover" is one of those good, old-fashioned, wholesome plays which a man may attend with his family without fear of hearing or seeing anything that would offend the most fastidious. It is a beautiful story, graphically told and strange to say, there are no crimes or villains, and still the heart interest is intense. Abundant humor is interspersed as several of the characters are legitimately funny without being overdrawn. The play is credited with being one of those sweet compositions that linger lovingly in the memory of the lover of really good plays. It is surely just a bit refreshing to again witness a wholesome, well written play that does not insult the intellect. There could be no happier title than "Sweet Clover," for in itself it almost tells the story of the play.

"Jerome Holcombe" and his pretty daughter, "Lois," live contentedly on their beautiful farm in Connecticut. The old man lives for his daughter, for years ago the mother of Lois ran away with an artist named Slade and nearly broke his heart. Fearful that the daughter may follow the mother's footsteps, Holcombe jealously guards her. Lois does not know her mother's fate and falls in love with a young artist named Slade, who is the adopted son of the man her mother ran away with. Interspersed with the more serious portions of the drama there is a lighter vein and a wholesome fund of comedy in the characters of Jack Hamilton and his young sweetheart, "Sandy Andrews," and the long drawn out courtship of the spinster, Abigail Holcombe, and Job Masson. The scenes showing the farm of the Holcombes and the homes of the wealthy city people are handsomely mounted and costumed.

"Sweet Clover" will be the attraction at the Brainerd Opera House, Monday, Aug. 22nd. The seat sale will open at H. P. Dunn & Co.'s on Saturday morning, Aug. 20.

D. M. Clark & Co. have a full line of pictures and picture frames.

This morning Chas. Loring of Crookston received notice that the petition for a new trial in the case of Ole C. Todahl vs Minnesota & International railway company, had been denied. The case was brought by the heirs of Todahl, who was killed while working in the yards at Lakeport, sixteen miles south of Bemidji. He was sealing logs when he was run into by a train and killed. THE BIG STATE FAIR

The Minnesota State Fair of 1904 Will Break all Previous Records--Opens on Monday, August 29.

The dates of the Minnesota state fair of this year will be August 29 to Sept. 3. This means, of course, that the fair will open on the last Monday in August and close on the first Saturday in September, giving a full week in which visitors may examine the exhibits and enjoy the amusements at the great show, and the Minnesota state fair has indeed become a "great show." From a comparatively insignificant place among the state fairs of the country, it has grown to be more than twice as large as any other, and is acknowledged freely to be the leader in this sort of thing, as well as being one of the most effective forces in the development and progress of Minnesota and the Northwest.

THE BODY OF MISS AAGOT DAHL FOUND

In a Clump of Bushes Two Miles
from a Shanty on Her Home-
stead Near Quiring

SEEMS TO BE DOUBLE MURDER

Little of the Details Regarding the Condition of the Body when
Found are Obtainable

The body of Aagot Dahl, who with her father suddenly disappeared from their shanties on their homesteads near Quiring up on the M. & I., some time ago has been found.

The body was found yesterday morning by a farmer who was making hay in a meadow about two miles from the young girl's cabin. It was lying in a clump of trees. The farmer at once sent word to Bemidji and notified the coroner, but up to the time the train left Blackduck today but few of the details of the finding of the body had been learned. The farmer did not examine the body to ascertain if it was mutilated, but the coroner left Bemidji at once for the scene.

The shanty of N. O. Dahl, father of the girl, whose body was found some time ago buried beneath the roots of some trees near the house, was three miles from Quiring. A half a mile south of this is the little log shack where the daughter stayed on her homestead. The body was found two miles from this shack and it is presumed that the murderer or murderers took the girl from the shack to this quiet nook and the heavens only know what transpired before she was brutally slain.

The two were living on their claims and it is said that the old man had a large quantity of money with him.

They finally disappeared and it was thought that they had gone to Crookston to visit with relatives, but further investigation proved that this was not the case and the belief commenced to gain ground that the twain had been murdered. Then the old man's body was found and yesterday the girl's body was also found.

Neighbors searched the woods for weeks, but no trace of the missing pair could be found. Relatives accepted the theory of murder and later offered a reward of $250 for information that would lead to the recovery of the bodies—dead or alive. Later the amount was raised to $500 and the county and state each swelled the reward with like amounts. Experienced detectives from the twin cities and one of the most competent men of the Chicago Pinkerton bureau worked for weeks on the case without developing a clue that was satisfactory.

Both the cabins were searched thoroughly. In Miss Dahl's cabin the bed was broken down and a button from a woodsman's mackinaw jacket was found. Besides the detectives a large force of experienced woodsmen scoured the woods in vain.

The Wrestling Match.

The contestants in the big wrestling match at the Brainerd opera house on August 24 are working hard. Moxie is being put through a very good course of training by Trainer Kelly, the latter devoting his entire time these days to the big fellow. He is taking a run of from four to five miles morning and night and then goes on the mat for two or three hours each time. The time is getting short but the men are in the best of condition and the match will be something exceptional in this line. Chas. Moth, as everyone knows now, is a wrestler almost second to none in the world and if Moxie defeats him in this match he will be heralded as the champion of the entire country.

A RULING OF JUDGE SPOONER

Said to Have Raised Consterna-
tion with the State Game and
Fish Commission

RULING IN A RAILROAD CASE

Man from Northome Wanted Deer
Heads Shipped but Company
Refused to Do So.

The state game and fish commission has been advised of a decision by Judge Spooner, of Bemidji, which is regarded as a severe blow to the work of the commission in preventing big game being shipped to market, says the St. Paul Globe.

The case was brought by Robert Schneider, of Northome, against the Minnesota & International Railway company. Schneider sought by mandamus to compel the railroad company to carry certain deer heads from Northome to Bemidji. The railroad company refused on the ground that Schneider did not have a license to shoot big game and that the heads were not tagged by the game and fish commission as required by statute.

S. F. Fullerton, executive agent of the game and fish commission, said yesterday that if left in its present condition, the effect of the decision would be to destroy the law protecting big game from unlicensed hunters, and that the commission would cause an appeal to be taken to the supreme court.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS GET GAY

While Spending a Few Days at Mille Lacs
They Get into Mixup with Owner of
Steamer Reminica

From reports received from Mille Lacs lake it is concluded that a dozen or more university students who went out to the lake for a brief outing had a rather gay time of it for a few days at least they succeeded admirably in making things rather warm for George McLaughlin, the owner of the steamer Reminica.

They got on the lake with the boat and when they got through with it it is claimed they swiped the life preservers, bedding and everything they could lay their hands to. It is thought this was all done in fun and that it was one of the little things they thought necessary to make a good well rounded outing. It was not so funny from the standpoint of the owner of the boat, however, and he had the young men all arrested.

It is learned that they fixed the matter all up before going to the hearing and nothing was done further in the matter.

This morning Chas. Loring of Crookston received notice that the petition for a new trial in the case of Ole C. Todahl vs Minnesota & International railway company, had been denied. The case was brought by the heirs of Todahl, who was killed while working in the yards at Lakeport, sixteen miles south of Bemidji. He was scaling logs when he was run into by a train and killed. The case is presumably closed and the $5000 will be paid to the heirs.—Bemidji Pioneer.

THE BIG STATE FAIR

Break all Previous Records--Opens on Monday, August 29.

From a comparatively insignificant place among the state fairs of the country, it has grown to be more than twice as large as any other, and is acknowledged freely to be the leader in this sort of thing, as well as being one of the most effective forces in the development and progress of Minnesota and the Northwest.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"SWEET CLOVER."

"Sweet Clover" is one of those good, old-fashioned, wholesome plays which a man may attend with his family without fear of hearing or seeing anything that would offend the most fastidious. It is a beautiful story, graphically told and strange to say, there are no crimes or villains, and still the heart interest is intense. Abundant humor is interspersed as several of the characters are legitimately funny without being overdrawn. The play is credited with being one of those sweet compositions that linger lovingly in the memory of the lover of really good plays. It is surely just a bit refreshing to again witness a wholesome, well written play that does not insult the intellect. There could be no happier title than "Sweet Clover," for in itself it almost tells the story of the play.

"Jerome Holcombe" and his pretty daughter, "Lois," live contentedly on their beautiful farm in Connecticut. The old man lives for his daughter, for years ago the mother of Lois ran away with an artist named Shade and nearly broke his heart. Fearful that the daughter may follow the mother's footsteps, Holcombe jealously guards her. Lois does not know her mother's fate and falls in love with a young artist named Slade, who is the adopted son of the man her mother ran away with. Interspersed with the more serious portions of the drama there is a lighter vein and a wholesome fund of comedy in the characters of Jack Hamilton and his young sweetheart, "Sundy Andrews," and the long drawn out courtship of the spinster, Abigail Holcombe, and Job Masson. The scenes showing the farm of the Holcombe's and the homes of the wealthy city people are handsomely mounted and costumed.

"Sweet Clover" will be the attraction at the Brainerd Opera House, Monday, Aug. 22nd. The seat sale will open at H. P. Dunn & Co.'s on Saturday morning, Aug. 20.

D. M. Clark & Co. have a full line of pictures and picture frames.

Women Are as Courageous as Men

By Mrs. FRANK LESLIE

IT is the accepted idea of the world that courage is a masculine attribute almost exclusively, and that all women are timid creatures, needing all sorts of protection and support, shelter and encouragement from man, who, according to St. Paul, "is the head of the woman."

PERHAPS HE IS, BUT I MUST SAY HE DOES NOT ALWAYS KEEP AHEAD.

Now, my own theory is that this idea, set up in the dark ages, when woman was either a slave or a servant to man, has, like many other respectable ideas, become outgrown and antiquated. The last fifty years have developed the nature and capacities of woman with a good deal of the instantaneous transformation seen in a pantomime, or, to put it more prettily, the effect upon a garden of roses, which in one hour of hot sunshine develop from half blown buds into flowers of glorious and fragrant maturity.

NOW, ONE OF THE ERRORS WHICH TIME HAS THUS FAR PERPETUATED AND NOW IS READY TO ABJURE AND CONTRADICT IS THIS OF THE COWARDICE OF WOMEN AND COURAGE OF MEN AS DISTINCTLY OPPOSED TO EACH OTHER.

I was present when a sweet little curly haired thing, a girl of some twenty years, seized a savage bloodhound by the neck and choked him off her pet kitten, which he had chased into the house—that is, I don't suppose her tiny dimpled hands were really capable of choking him, but he was so impressed by the dauntless spirit behind them that he dropped the kitten and ran. When his master was told of the exploit he turned pale and exclaimed: "My God! That dog has torn a man to pieces before now!"

THE STRONGEST SPRING OF ACTION IN A WOMAN'S NATURE IS LOVE, AND THE PERFECTLY RECKLESS COURAGE SHE WILL SOMETIMES DISPLAY MUST HAVE ITS ROOT IN LOVE. She must feel the need of saving or serving some one whose life is dearer to her than her own, or, like Joan of Arc or Charlotte Corday, she must love her country better than herself and despise the death awaiting her in its defense.

In fact, the truth is that MAN'S COURAGE IS MATTER OF CALCULATION, and so may be served to order, may be indulged or restrained, may be sold to the highest bidder, and if a higher appear may be transferred and resold without injuring its quality in the least. This is not to be taken as an ill natured hit at mankind, but a simple statement of fact as relating to mercenary troops and soldiers of fortune, and I only point out the fact as opposed to that other fact just mentioned—namely, that woman's courage springs only from the personal feeling of the moment and has its root in love.

BUT, AFTER ALL, IT IS MORE IN THE MORAL THAN THE PHYSICAL WORLD THAT WOMAN'S COURAGE IS MOST CLEARLY SHOWN, AND ALSO MAN'S COWARDICE, AND IN NO DIRECTION MORE PLAINLY THAN IN MATTERS OF THE HEART.

For instance, if poverty—deep, dire poverty—comes, it is woman's courage that meets it and makes the best of it; it is she who dares to show herself to the world, to their own world, in the garb and equipage and occupations of poverty.

Perhaps THE MAN BREAKS DOWN UTTERLY, for men are far more prone to break than bend, AND THEN nine times out of ten THE WIFE FINDS COURAGE AND ABILITY to take up the laboring oar that he has dropped and becomes the breadwinner of the family. And with what brave and strong resolution is that labor accomplished, even when the frail physique seems crumbling beneath the strain!

IN OTHER WAYS, TOO, IS THERE A DISAGREEABLE TRUTH TO BE TOLD OR A CAUTION GIVEN OR A WARNING CONVEYED IN SOCIAL OR MORAL MATTERS. WHO HAS THE COURAGE TO DO THESE THINGS—IS IT A WOMAN OR A MAN?

The Relation of Railroad and Telegraph to Our Body Politic

By JAMES M. BECK, Former Assistant Attorney General

IN view of the centralizing tendencies of steam and electricity our country will eventually consider the propriety of such an amendment to the constitution as will grant to transportation companies the right to transact their business throughout the country under the protection of A FEDERAL CHARTER. Such a law would unquestionably go far to obliterate state lines and create a government more strongly centralized than the wildest dream of Alexander Hamilton. But neither Hamilton nor Jefferson ever conceived the possibility of the railroad or the telegraph.

THROUGH THEIR CENTRIPETAL TENDENCIES NO LONGER IS THERE A GROUP OF STATES UNITED WITH A SLENDER THREAD OF FEDERAL POWER, BUT A NATIONAL ORGANISM WHOSE ARTERIES ARE THE RAILROADS AND WHOSE SENSITIVE NERVES ARE THE TELEGRAPH WIRES, AND THIS ORGANISM CAN NO MORE BE DIVIDED INTO SEPARATELY VITAL PARTS THAN YOU COULD DIVIDE THE HUMAN BODY.

Why There Is No American School of Painting

By ALPHONSE MARIA MUCHA, French Artist

AMERICA IS TOO YOUNG yet to have developed an artistic side. There are painters here, and very good ones too. But they are not American painters. Although born here, they are European, generally French. They study abroad and are formed there, so that their best efforts are in reality only copies. AT THE PRESENT RATE OF DEVELOPMENT, HOWEVER, THE REAL AMERICAN PAINTER WILL BE PRODUCED WITHIN FIFTY YEARS. AND THEN HE WILL CREATE FOR HIMSELF. HE WILL HAVE ORIGINALITY. HE WILL BE AMERICAN.

The second generation will witness an American renaissance. But the country is too young yet. It will have to be waited for.

Women Are as Courageous as Men

By MRS. FRANK LESLIE

IT is the accepted idea of the world that courage is a masculine attribute almost exclusively, and that all women are timid creatures, needing all sorts of protection and support, shelter and encouragement from man, who, according to St. Paul, "is the head of the woman."

PERHAPS HE IS, BUT I MUST SAY HE DOES NOT ALWAYS KEEP AHEAD.

Now, my own theory is that this idea, set up in the dark ages, when woman was either a slave or a servant to man, has, like many other respectable ideas, become outgrown and antiquated. The last fifty years have developed the nature and capacities of woman with a good deal of the instantaneous transformation seen in a pantomime, or, to put it more prettily, the effect upon a garden of roses, which in one hour of hot sunshine develop from half blown buds into flowers of glorious and fragrant maturity.

NOW, ONE OF THE ERRORS WHICH TIME HAS THUS FAR PERPETUATED AND NOW IS READY TO ABJURE AND CONTRADICT IS THIS OF THE COWARDICE OF WOMEN AND COURAGE OF MEN AS DISTINCTLY OPPOSED TO EACH OTHER.

I was present when a sweet little curly haired thing, a girl of some twenty years, seized a savage bloodhound by the neck and choked him off her pet kitten, which he had chased into the house—that is, I don't suppose her tiny dimpled hands were really capable of choking him, but he was so impressed by the dauntless spirit behind them that he dropped the kitten and ran. When his master was told of the exploit he turned pale and exclaimed: "My God! That dog has torn a man to pieces before now!"

THE STRONGEST SPRING OF ACTION IN A WOMAN'S NATURE IS LOVE, AND THE PERFECTLY RECKLESS COURAGE SHE WILL SOMETIMES DISPLAY MUST HAVE ITS ROOT IN LOVE. She must feel the need of saving or serving some one whose life is dearer to her than her own, or, like Joan of Arc or Charlotte Corday, she must love her country better than herself and despise the death awaiting her in its defense.

In fact, the truth is that MAN'S COURAGE IS MATTER OF CALCULATION, and so may be served to order, may be indulged or restrained, may be sold to the highest bidder, and if a higher appear may be transferred and resold without injuring its quality in the least. This is not to be taken as an ill natured hit at mankind, but a simple statement of fact as relating to mercenary troops and soldiers of fortune, and I only point out the fact as opposed to that other fact just mentioned—namely, that woman's courage springs only from the personal feeling of the moment and has its root in love.

BUT, AFTER ALL, IT IS MORE IN THE MORAL THAN THE PHYSICAL WORLD THAT WOMAN'S COURAGE IS MOST CLEARLY SHOWN, AND ALSO MAN'S COWARDICE, AND IN NO DIRECTION MORE PLAINLY THAN IN MATTERS OF THE HEART.

For instance, if poverty—deep, dire poverty—comes, it is woman's courage that meets it and makes the best of it; it is she who dares to show herself to the world, to their own world, in the garb and equipage and occupations of poverty.

Perhaps THE MAN BREAKS DOWN UTTERLY, for men are far more prone to break than bend, AND THEN nine times out of ten THE WIFE FINDS COURAGE AND ABILITY to take up the laboring oar that he has dropped and becomes the breadwinner of the family. And with what brave and strong resolution is that labor accomplished, even when the frail physique seems crumbling beneath the strain!

IN OTHER WORDS, TOO, IS THERE A DISAGREEABLE TRUTH TO BE TOLD OR A CAUTION GIVEN OR A WARNING CONVEYED IN SOCIAL OR MORAL MATTERS. WHO HAS THE COURAGE TO DO THESE THINGS—IS IT A WOMAN OR A MAN?

The Relation of Railroad and Telegraph to Our Body Politic

By JAMES M. BECK, Former Assistant Attorney General

IN view of the centralizing tendencies of steam and electricity our country will eventually consider the propriety of such an amendment to the constitution as will grant to transportation companies the right to transact their business throughout the country under the protection of a FEDERAL CHARTER. Such a law would unquestionably go far to obliterate state lines and create a government more strongly centralized than the wildest dream of Alexander Hamilton. But neither Hamilton nor Jefferson ever conceived the possibility of the railroad or the telegraph.

THROUGH THEIR CENTRIPETAL TENDENCIES NO LONGER IS THERE A GROUP OF STATES UNITED WITH A SLENDER THREAD OF FEDERAL POWER, BUT A NATIONAL ORGANISM WHOSE ARTERIES ARE THE RAILROADS AND WHOSE SENSITIVE NERVES ARE THE TELEGRAPH WIRES, AND THIS ORGANISM CAN NO MORE BE DIVIDED INTO SEPARATELY VITAL PARTS THAN YOU COULD DIVIDE THE HUMAN BODY.

Why There Is No American School of Painting

By ALPHONSE MARIA MUCHA, French Artist

AMERICA IS TOO YOUNG yet to have developed an artistic side. There are painters here, and very good ones too. But they are not American painters. Although born here, they are European, generally French. They study abroad and are formed there, so that their best efforts are in reality only copies. AT THE PRESENT RATE OF DEVELOPMENT, HOWEVER, THE REAL AMERICAN PAINTER WILL BE PRODUCED WITHIN FIFTY YEARS. AND THEN HE WILL CREATE FOR HIMSELF. HE WILL HAVE ORIGINALITY. HE WILL BE AMERICAN.

The second generation will witness an American renaissance. But the country is too young yet. It will have to be waited for.

ANTIQUITY OF THE ROSE.

The Flower Goes Back Beyond the Most Ancient Records.

The royal rose has a pedigree to shame any other queen. It is so long, so full of enchanting turns and twists and so delightfully cumbered with myth, fable and history. She is in a way a paradox, since, although by appearance and perfume the most tropical of blossoms, she is yet by nativity a flower of north temperate latitudes. Her habitat is bounded north and south, roughly speaking, by the twentieth and the seventieth parallels. She grows wild all over Europe, in Africa as low as Abyssinia, in Asia to and through India and in North America to the edge of Mexico.

Most wild roses are single, yet Pliny mentions double ones, among them the hundred leaf, and Herodotus says, "Macedonia has gardens of Midas, with roses of sixty petals breathing out a delightful perfume." Whoever has read Roman history must recall the roses of Paestum, which bloomed twice a year. Notwithstanding this Rome's favorite rose was the Hundred Leaf. It followed the eagles and the legions wherever they went and grows today over three parts of the Roman world, a vital record of that old time occupation.

Etymologically "rose" is from the Celtic rhod or rhudd, "red," also the root of "ruddy." The Greek name, rhodon, has the same meaning. So have most rose names in any language. Botanically the flower gives name to the great natural order rosaceae. Artificially it is classed under polygonaceae, the many angled. The wild forms have always fleshy, urn or pitcher shaped calyxes, twenty or more stamens, five petals and five sepals. The sepals show a bit of nature's most cunning work. Two of them are bearded at both edges, two without beards and the fifth bearded at one edge and straight along the other. Thus they inclose the bud with a bearded overlap along every seam, good to repel moisture and to put to rout every intrusive creeping thing.

Rose culture's beginning goes back beyond records. The flower is mentioned in the earliest Coptic manuscripts. India's traditions take the rose to the times of the gods on earth. Egypt had roses, wild and tame, before the Roman occupation made it in a way Rome's commercial rose garden. Yet, curiously enough, there is no reference to the flower in painting, sculpture or hieroglyphics. Japan in our time parallels Egypt. Roses flourish there, but do not serve as a motif for artists. There is this further likeness—neither Egypt nor Japan has a rose song or a love song proper, so it may well be that madam the rose is avenged for the slight.

The Jews, returning from the Babylonian captivity, took with them a recompense of roses. Semiramis, with the world at her feet, found her chief joy in a bower of roses. Mohammed turned back from Damascus after viewing it encircled with rose gardens. "It is too delightful. A man can have but one paradise," said the prophet. Damascus lies in the heart of Syria, whose name some geographers derive from seri, meaning a wild rose, and wild roses are abundant there. The damask roses of our gardens go back to Damascus. They were brought from it at the time of the crusades, although exactly when or by whom nobody can certainly say.—Martha McCulloch-Williams in Success.

Talleyrand's Sharp Tongue.

When Mme. de Stael published her celebrated novel, "Delphine," she was supposed to have painted herself in the person of the heroine, and M. Talleyrand in that of an elderly lady, who is one of the principal characters. "They tell me," said he, the first time he met her, "that we are both of us in your novel in the disguise of women."

Worse Than the Upper Ten.

"Only the upper ten go to your church, don't they?" inquired the plain person.

"Yes," replied the organist of the swell church, "but they're not a circumstance to the upish tenor in our choir."—Philadelphia Press.

Her Strikes.

Mr. Benedict—Do you know, my dear, I think we have a pretty good cook? How does she strike you? Mrs. Benedict—For more wages about once a week.—Illustrated Bits.

Her Query.

Gardener—This here is a tobacco plant in full flower. Lady—How very interesting! And how long will it be before the cigars are ripe?—New Yorker.

THERMOMETERS.

The Bulbs, the Tubes and the Marking of the Degrees.

There are many different uses for thermometers and as many different styles as uses. They range from the tiny half inch tubes attached to Christmas calendars to the enormous twelve foot instruments used in experimental work by meteorologists.

Perhaps the most difficult part of the manufacture of thermometers is that of fitting the tube with a bulb of exactly the right capacity. The size of the latter must have an exact relation to that of the former. If it is too large for the bore the mercury or colored alcohol, whichever is used, will not rise high enough in the tube; if too small, it will rise too high. In the little clinical thermometer on whose story the physician depends so often for his decision the bore is so fine that a human hair can hardly be inserted. As these thermometers must be regulated to record minutely the temperature, the person on whose judgment depends the size of the bulb to be attached must be a highly skilled workman. The men who do this part of the work have to be highly paid.

The marking of the degrees on the hollow tube is the step next in importance in the making of the little curse and blessing. The process is so simple that one can prove the accuracy of a thermometer for one's self by the same method. The freezing point is secured by immersing the bulb in a box of melting ice and the boiling point by attaching it to a steam pipe or immersing it in boiling water. Scratches are made on the tube at the points reached by the mercury under these two tests, and the space between is then marked off into 100 spaces for a centigrade thermometer and 180 for a Fahrenheit instrument, the marking beginning in the first instance at zero and in the second at 32. This makes the boiling point in one case 100 and in the other 212 degrees. Thermometers are apt to deteriorate in value as they age, owing to a contraction of the glass of the bulb. The amount of the error can be determined by immersing the bulb in melting ice and making a mark for the new freezing point. To insure the accuracy of thermometers the manufacturers usually store them for a year, testing them from time to time.—New York Tribune.

WHAT THEY READ.

Hogarth was fond of joke books and farces and enjoyed them immoderately. Mario, the great tenor, read anything he could obtain relating to sports or hunting.

"Papa Haydn liked stories, and he said, 'The more love there is in them the better.'"

George III., for many years of his life, read nothing but his Bible and prayer book.

Swift made a special study of the Latin satirists and imitated their style and language.

Da Vinci read Pindar and thought him the noblest poet who ever wrote in any language.

Heine seldom read anything but poetry, but he read that with the most scrupulous attention.

Bold Court Jesters.

"You are ready enough to point your satire at other people's faults," Queen Bess once said to Clod, one of the court jesters, "but you never say a word about mine." "Ah," exclaimed Clod, "why should I waste time in reminding your majesty of your faults, seeing that they are in everybody's mouth?"

Patch, one of Henry VIII's fools, once sought permission to demand an egg from every husband who was dissatisfied with his wife. No sooner had the king granted his request than Patch proceeded to demand the first egg from him, saying, "Your grace belongs to the class of husbands on whom I am entitled to make levy."

Japanese Myths.

Japanese believe in more mythical creatures than any other people on the globe, civilized or savage. Among these are serpents 800 feet long and large enough to swallow an elephant, foxes with eight legs, monkeys with four ears and fishes with ten heads attached to one body. They also believe in the existence of a crane which, after it has lived for 600 years, has no need of any sustenance except water.

The Difference.

Little Rodney—Papa, what is the difference between climate and weather? Mr. Wayout of Dismalhurst-on-the-Blink—Climate, my son, is what a locality has when you are buying a home there, and weather is what it has afterward.—Puck.

ORIGIN OF "KICKERS."

Supposed to Come From an Occupation in Cornish Mines.

"I believe that the origin of the expressive bit of slang 'kickers' may be found in the very lowest form of occupation any member of the human race follows," W. M. Robinson states.

"Between Wormsley and St. Helen's, in Cornwall, is an underground canal connecting the lower levels of the coal mines at Wormsley with the surface station at St. Helen's which saves a great deal of money for the mine owners in handling the coal, which is simply loaded on the barges in the mines and transported by the canal under the mountains to the harbor at St. Helen's. When the canal was devised, however, how to provide for locomotion for these barges was a problem.

"Mules couldn't be used, and there were circumstances which made steam impossible, but an inventive genius finally solved the riddle by suggesting that cross pieces of timber be placed along the roof of the canal, which was very low, and men could lie on their backs on top of the loaded barges and 'kick' the vessel along. After the barge was once started this was found to be feasible.

The men could easily keep the load in motion by the means suggested, and it has ever since been in use. There is no question about the low grade of this sort of work, and even the men who follow it are constantly 'kicking' around the villages where they live. They were known at the mines officially as 'kickers' because of their work, and their vocal complaints, continually indulged in, caused every one at Wormsley's or St. Helen's, no matter what their station or employment, who indulged in complaints to be called 'kickers.' I presume that the origin of the word, as we use it, is just what I have suggested."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ODD FACTS ABOUT COLOR.

One of Them Is That There Is No Food That Is Blue.

Did you ever notice that there is no blue food? We eat things green, red, yellow and violet; flesh, fish or plants in all the colors of the rainbow except blue.

Many deadly poisons are blue in color, such as bluestone or the deadly nightshade flower. The color stands in our slang for everything miserable and depressing.

But this is only one of a thousand queer facts about colors.

Heat a bar of iron and the particles of the metal are set in motion, shaking violently one against another.

Presently the surrounding ether is set in motion in large, slow waves through the air, like the waves of the sea, until they break upon our skin and give us the sensation of heat. As the iron gets hotter other waves are set in motion in immense numbers, traveling at more than lightning speed, and these break upon the eye, giving us the sensation of red light.

The red-hot iron, getting still more heated, throws out other sets of waves, still smaller and more rapid—orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet, all the colors of the rainbow. The eye cannot tell one from another; the whole bundle of rays mixed up gives us an impression of white. That is the glow from white hot iron, and such is the light from the still greater brightness of the sun. Sunlight is a bundle of rays of light—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet all mixed together. The mixture of all colors is white light. The absence of all color is utter darkness.—New York Journal.

An Odd Court Incident.

Sensational incidents are not uncommon in the closing stages of famous criminal trials. One of the most remarkable occurred in Melbourne on the last day of the trial of Ned Kelly, known as the "ironclad bushranger of Australia." A knife dropped from a gallery overhead and fell at the feet of the desperado in the dock. He had every temptation to grasp it and put an end to his existence, for there was not the slightest chance of his escaping the gallows. But it was promptly picked up by a bailiff, and its owner was arrested and brought before the judge. He pleaded that the occurrence was purely accidental, and the explanation was accepted by the court.

Concentration.

The weakest living creature, by concentrating his powers on a single object, can accomplish something. The strongest, by disposing of his over-much, may fail to accomplish anything. The drop, by continually falling, bores its passage through the hardest rock. The hasty torrent rushes over it with hideous uproar and leaves no trace behind.—Carlyle.

MINNESOTA'S GREAT FAIR.

The Forty-Fifth Annual Show Will Open on August 29, and Closes on September 3.

A Holiday Week of Pleasure and Profit for All—The Railroads Have Made Half-Fare Rates—Some Things to See.

With the near approach of the opening day of the Minnesota State Fair of 1904 it becomes evident to those familiar with the situation that the fair will be even larger in every department than the record breaker of 1903.

The best information available shows there will be more cattle than last year, in spite of the competition of the St. Louis show a few weeks later. All the great show herds which will be at St. Louis will appear previously at the Minnesota Fair, and the winners at St. Louis will wear Minnesota blue ribbons. Horses and other animals will be equally numerous.

For horses something new has been provided this year. This is a great tent in which all the horses will be judged and where the exhibitions of carriage horses and other special classes will be held. The tent is a great circus affair, about 300 feet

Pierre, fifty five acres of massive scenery is required, and in the thrilling scenes of the great spectacle more than four hundred performers will participate.

The fireworks feature this season will be on the same elaborate scale that has always characterized pain productions, and will include many pyrotechnic novelties never before seen, many of the fiery devices being duplicates of pyrotechnic designs especially prepared for the great display given at the dedication of the St. Louis Exposition.

The Minnesota State Fair is making abundant provision for the special department devoted to woman's work and interests, and it is expected that for this and other reasons there will be a larger attendance of women than ever before. The New Manufactures Building on the Minnesota State Fair Grounds.

When the Minnesota State Fair of 1904 opens Monday, Aug. 29, visitors will find the most conspicuous new thing on the grounds to be a building, known exclusively to Minnesota manufacturers. The Manufactures Building is, perhaps, the handsomest on the grounds and the first to be of thoroughly permanent and absolutely fire-proof construction. In size it is 125x160 feet. Above the stone foundation, pressed brick walls rise to a cornice about 25 feet from the ground, both wall and cornice having on a sufficient ornamentation to relieve their plain surfaces, while the main facade receives its principal adornment through a beautiful entrance, adorned with stone pillars. This stone, as well as the brick and all other materials, as far as possible, are Minnesota products. The cost of the building was $30,000.

long, and will accommodate thousands of people. As horse showing is always popular, it is safe to say that the horse tent at the State Fair this year will be well filled every day.

As for the other horses—the racers—they will be there in great numbers. Here again another record has already been smashed into very small pieces; for entries for the Minnesota State Fair races close invariably on July 1st and this year Sec. L. W. Randall received 339 nominations, or 72 more than in 1903, and 109 more than in 1902.

In other departments of the fair a similar gain over 1903 is reasonably to be expected. The superintendents of divisions, who keep in close touch with intending exhibitors, find that all well known indications suggest substantial gains in totals.

An improvement which will be appreciated by everyone who goes to the fair this year is the street railroad terminal station. The new system of handling the state fair passenger traffic will make it possible for visitors to travel to and from the fair with perfect comfort. A system of loops and storage tracks has been constructed at enormous expense. Operation of this system will be such that passengers will alight almost in the center of the fair grounds and within 200 yards of the grand stand. When leaving the grounds there will be found electric cars always standing ready, and at the close of the stant superintendent, and will contain all the articles exhibited by women and for which premiums or diplomas are offered. The State Federation of Women's Clubs will have its headquarters in the building formerly known as the Institute Building, and which is within a few rods of the Woman's Building. Lectures, entertainments and social gatherings will be among the items on the federation program.

A new, novel and unique feature will be added to the Minnesota State Fair this year in the way of amusements.

There will be a "Pike," where will be presented all of the amusements engaged to entertain the thousands of sightseers. The committee on amusements have arranged to have fifteen separate shows, each and every one high-class, clean, moral and refined. The special big feature attraction will be the Grecian Stadium Show, presenting a performance consisting of the World's greatest sensational out-door acts, including the Japanese marvel Youturkey in a high bounding wire display. The great Le Fluor, acknowledged premier of athletes. The Brothers Steiner, aerial bar display par excellence. The Chilean wonders; the Pechecos, seven in number; the world's foremost acrobatic family; this is their first American engagement; Miss Florice Spray, the world's champion female diver, diving from a height of 65 feet

Practically the entire Northwest can reach Minneapolis and St. Paul at State Fair time for a half-fare rate. The lines of the Western Passenger Association have granted a one way rate from all points within 500 miles of Minneapolis and St. Paul, while the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines have made the rate cover practically the whole of North Dakota, northern Minnesota, northern Michigan and a large part of South Dakota.

This great supply of cars on the storage tracks will remove the possibility of discomfort when leaving the grounds.

The theme chosen by the famous pyrotechnist, Pain, as a subject for his annual spectacle at the Minnesota State Fair this season is "Mt. Pelée, or the Destruction of St. Pierre." With the exception of an all-summer engagement in Boston, this spectacle has never been produced elsewhere in this country, so that its engagement at the Minnesota Fair will be its first production in the West. The terrible catastrophe on the island of Martinique offers a subject for the pyrotechnist second only to his greatest success, "Last Days of Pompeii," and it is needless to say that he has taken every advantage of the opportunity offered for startling volcanic effects and picturesque scenic environment. Another feature of the "Pike" will be the Trained Wild Animal Zoo, consisting of 37 trained lions, tigers, leopards, hyenas, pumas, bears, jaguars and panthers, besides performing elephants and camels. Other features engaged for the "Pike" are: the dog, monkey, and pony show, presenting a program especially arranged for ladies and children. The Crystal Maze, where one gets lost; the laughing parlors, where you go to laugh; the House-upside-Down, or Topsy Turvy Land; the Palace of Mysteries; The Girl From Up There; "Roberta" in poses; The Electric Theatre; The Cave of the Winds; the Glass Palace, and the Hall of Illusions. The rest of attractions offered will be varied, instructive and interesting and no doubt will prove a popular feature of the State Fair this year.

ANTIQUITY OF THE ROSE.

The Flower Goes Back Beyond the Most Ancient Records.

The royal rose has a pedigree to shame any other queen, it is so long, so full of enchanting turns and twists and so delightfully cumbered with myth, fable and history. She is in a way a paradox, since, although by appearance and perfume the most tropical of blossoms, she is yet by nativity a flower of north temperate latitudes. Her habitat is bounded north and south, roughly speaking, by the twentieth and the seventieth parallels. She grows wild all over Europe, in Africa as low as Abyssinia, in Asia to and through India and in North America to the edge of Mexico.

Most wild roses are single, yet Pliny mentions double ones, among them the hundred leaf, and Herodotus says, "Macedonia has gardens of Midas, with roses of sixty petals breathing out a delightful perfume." Whoever has read Roman history must recall the roses of Paestum, which bloomed twice a year. Notwithstanding this Rome's favorite rose was the Hundred Leaf. It followed the eagles and the legions wherever they went and grows today over three parts of the Roman world, a vital record of that old time occupation.

Etymologically "rose" is from the Celtic rhod or rhudd, "red," also the root of "ruddy." The Greek name, rhodon, has the same meaning. So have most rose names in any language. Botanically the flower gives name to the great natural order rosaceae. Artificially it is classed under polygonaceae, the many angled. The wild forms have always fleshy, urn or pitcher shaped calyxes, twenty or more stamens, five petals and five sepals. The sepals show a bit of nature's most cunning work. Two of them are bearded at both edges, two without beards and the fifth bearded at one edge and straight along the other. Thus they inclose the bud with a bearded overlap along every seam, good to repel moisture and to put to rout every intrusive creeping thing.

Rose culture's beginning goes back beyond records. The flower is mentioned in the earliest Coptic manuscripts. India's traditions take the rose to the times of the gods on earth. Egypt had roses, wild and tame, before the Roman occupation made it in a way Rome's commercial rose garden. Yet, curiously enough, there is no reference to the flower in painting, sculpture or hieroglyphics. Japan in our time parallels Egypt. Roses flourish there, but do not serve as a motif for artists. There is this further likeness—neither Egypt nor Japan has a rose song or a love song proper, so it may well be that madam the rose is avenged for the slight.

The Jews, returning from the Babylonish captivity, took with them a recompense of roses. Semiramis, with the world at her feet, found her chief joy in a bower of roses. Mohammed turned back from Damascus after viewing it encircled with rose gardens. "It is too delightful. A man can have but one paradise," said the prophet. Damascus lies in the heart of Syria, whose name some geographers derive from seri, meaning a wild rose, and wild roses are abundant there. The damask roses of our gardens go back to Damascus. They were brought from it at the time of the crusades, although exactly when or by whom nobody can certainly say.—Martha McCulloch-Williams in Success.

Talleyrand's Sharp Tongue.

When Mme. de Staël published her celebrated novel, "Delphine," she was supposed to have painted herself in the person of the heroine, and M. Talleyrand in that of an elderly lady, who is one of the principal characters. "They tell me," said he, the first time he met her, "that we are both of us in your woe in the disguise of women."

Worse Than the Upper Ten.

"Only the upper ten go to your church, don't they?" inquired the plain person.

"Yes," replied the organist of the swell church, "but they're not a circumstance to the uppers tenor in our choir."—Philadelphia Press.

Her Strikes.

Mr. Benedict—Do you know, my dear, I think we have a pretty good cook? How does she strike you? Mrs. Benedict—For more wages about once a week.—Illustrated Bits.

Her Query.

Gardener—This here is a tobacco plant in full flower. Lady—How very interesting! And how long will it be before the cigars are ripe?—New Yorker.

THERMOMETERS.

The Bulbs, the Tubes and the Marking of the Degrees.

There are many different uses for thermometers and as many different styles as uses. They range from the tiny half inch tubes attached to Christmas calendars to the enormous twelve foot instruments used in experimental work by meteorologists.

Perhaps the most difficult part of the manufacture of thermometers is that of fitting the tube with a bulb of exactly the right capacity. The size of the latter must have an exact relation to that of the former. If it is too large for the bore the mercury or colored alcohol, whichever is used, will not rise high enough in the tube; if too small, it will rise too high. In the little clinical thermometer on whose story the physician depends so often for his decision the bore is so fine that a human hair can hardly be inserted. As these thermometers must be regulated to record minutely the temperature, the person on whose judgment depends the size of the bulb to be attached must be a highly skilled workman. The men who do this part of the work have to be highly paid.

The marking of the degrees on the hollow tube is the step next in importance in the making of the little curse and blessing. The process is so simple that one can prove the accuracy of a thermometer for one's self by the same method. The freezing point is secured by immersing the bulb in a box of melting ice and the boiling point by attaching it to a steam pipe or immersing it in boiling water. Scratches are made on the tube at the points reached by the mercury under these two tests, and the space between is then marked off into 100 spaces for a centigrade thermometer and 180 for a Fahrenheit instrument, the marking beginning in the first instance at zero and in the second at 32. This makes the boiling point in one case 100 and in the other 212 degrees. Thermometers are apt to deteriorate in value as they age, owing to a contraction of the glass of the bulb. The amount of the error can be determined by immersing the bulb in melting ice and making a mark for the new freezing point. To insure the accuracy of thermometers the manufacturers usually store them for a year, testing them from time to time.—New York Tribune.

WHAT THEY READ.

Hogarth was fond of joke books and farces and enjoyed them immoderately. Mario, the great tenor, read anything he could obtain relating to sports or hunting.

"Papa Haydn liked stories, and he said, 'The more love there is in them the better.'"

George III., for many years of his life, read nothing but his Bible and prayer book.

Swift made a special study of the Latin satirists and imitated their style and language.

Da Vinci read Pindar and thought him the noblest poet who ever wrote in any language.

Heine seldom read anything but poetry, but he read that with the most scrupulous attention.

Bold Court Jesters.

"You are ready enough to point your satire at other people's faults," Queen Bess once said to Clod, one of the court jesters, "but you never say a word about mine." "Ah," exclaimed Clod, "why should I waste time in reminding your majesty of your faults, seeing that they are in everybody's mouth?"

Patch, one of Henry VIII's fools, once sought permission to demand an egg from every husband who was dissatisfied with his wife. No sooner had the king granted his request than Patch proceeded to demand the first egg from him, saying, "Your grace belongs to the class of husbands on whom I am entitled to make levy."

Japanese Myths.

Japanese believe in more mythical creatures than any other people on the globe, civilized or savage. Among these are serpents 800 feet long and large enough to swallow an elephant, foxes with eight legs, monkeys with four ears and fishes with ten heads attached to one body. They also believe in the existence of a crane which, after it has lived for 600 years, has no need of any sustenance except water.

The Difference.

Little Rodney—Papa, what is the difference between climate and weather? Mr. Wayout of Dismalhurst-on-the-Blink—Climate, my son, is what a locality has when you are buying a home there, and weather is what it has afterward.—Puck.

ORIGIN OF "KICKERS."

Supposed to Come From an Occupation in Cornish Mines.

"I believe that the origin of the expressive bit of slang 'kickers' may be found in the very lowest form of occupation any member of the human race follows," W. M. Robinson states.

"Between Wormsley's and St. Helen's, in Cornwall, is an underground canal connecting the lower levels of the coal mines at Wormsley's with the surface station at St. Helen's which saves a great deal of money for the mine owners in handling the coal, which is simply loaded on the barges in the mines and transported by the canal under the mountains to the harbor at St. Helen's. When the canal was devised, however, how to provide for locomotion for these barges was a problem.

"Mules couldn't be used, and there were circumstances which made steam impossible, but an inventive genius finally solved the riddle by suggesting that cross pieces of timber be placed along the roof of the canal, which was very low, and men could lie on their backs on top of the loaded barges and 'kick' the vessel along. After the barge was once started this was found to be feasible.

"The men could easily keep the load in motion by the means suggested, and it has ever since been in use. There is no question about the low grade of this sort of work, and even the men who follow it are constantly 'kicking' around the villages where they live. They were known at the mines officially as 'kickers' because of their work, and their vocal complaints, continually indulged in, caused every one at Wormsley's or St. Helen's, no matter what their station or employment, who indulged in complaints to be called 'kickers.' I presume that the origin of the word, as we use it, is just what I have suggested."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ODD FACTS ABOUT COLOR.

One of Them Is That There Is No Food That Is Blue.

Did you ever notice that there is no blue food? We eat things green, red, yellow and violet; flesh, fish or plants in all the colors of the rainbow except blue.

Many deadly poisons are blue in color, such as bluestone or the deadly nightshade flower. The color stands in our slang for everything miserable and depressing.

But this is only one of a thousand queer facts about colors.

Heat a bar of iron and the particles of the metal are set in motion, shaking violently one against another.

Presently the surrounding ether is set in motion in large, slow waves through the air, like the waves of the sea, until they break upon our skin and give us the sensation of heat. As the iron gets hotter other waves are set in motion in immense numbers, traveling at more than lightning speed, and these break upon the eye, giving us the sensation of red light.

The red-hot iron, getting still more heated, throws out other sets of waves, still smaller and more rapid—orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet, all the colors of the rainbow. The eye cannot tell one from another; the whole bundle of rays mixed up gives us an impression of white. That is the glow from white hot iron, and such is the light from the still greater brightness of the sun. Sunlight is a bundle of rays of light—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet all mixed together. The mixture of all colors is white light. The absence of all color is utter darkness.—New York Journal.

An Odd Court Incident.

Sensational incidents are not uncommon in the closing stages of famous criminal trials. One of the most remarkable occurred in Melbourne on the last day of the trial of Ned Kelly, known as the "ironclad bushranger of Australia." A knife dropped from a gallery overhead and fell at the feet of the desperado in the dock. He had every temptation to grasp it and put an end to his existence, for there was not the slightest chance of his escaping the gallows. But it was promptly picked up by a bailiff, and its owner was arrested and brought before the judge. He pleaded that the occurrence was purely accidental, and the explanation was accepted by the court.

Concentration.

The weakest living creature, by concentrating his powers on a single object, can accomplish something. The strongest, by disposing of his over-may, may fail to accomplish anything. The drop, by continually falling, bores its passage through the hardest rock. The hasty torrent rushes over it with hideous uproar and leaves no trace behind.—Carlyle.

MINNESOTA'S GREAT FAIR.

The Forty-Fifth Annual Show Will Open on August 29, and Closes on September 3.

A Holiday Week of Pleasure and Profit for All—The Railroads Have Made Half-Fare Rates—Some Things to See.

With the near approach of the opening day of the Minnesota State Fair of 1904 it becomes evident to those familiar with the situation that the fair will be even larger in every department than the record breaker of 1903.

The best information available shows there will be more cattle than last year, in spite of the competition of the St. Louis show a few weeks later. All the great show herds which will be at St. Louis will appear previously at the Minnesota Fair, and the winners at St. Louis will wear Minnesota blue ribbons. Horses and other animals will be equally numerous.

For horses something new has been provided this year. This is a great tent in which all the horses will be judged and where the exhibitions of carriage horses and other special classes will be held. The tent is a great circus affair, about 300 feet

Pierre, fully five acres of massive scenery is required, and in the thrilling scenes of the great spectacle more than four hundred performers will participate.

The fireworks feature this season will be on the same elaborate scale that has always characterized pain productions, and will include many pyrotechnic novelties never before seen, many of the fiery devices being duplicates of pyrotechnic designs especially prepared for the great display given at the dedication of the St. Louis Exposition.

TRADERS AT CHICAGO BUY AS IF A FAMINE THREATENED THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

CROP REPORTS VERY POOR

ENTIRE FIELDS DESTROYED BY RUST AND THEN BURNED BY THEIR OWNERS.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The wheat trade was rust-mad Wednesday and bought as if a famine threatened the country. The September delivery touched $1.09 a bushel, 3 3/4c over the previous close. The December option advanced 5c to $1.10. The close was under the top figure, showing a net advance for the nearer months of 3 3/4c and of 4 1/4c for the deferred options. Corn closed strong at 7 1/2c advance for September and 1 1/2c for December. September oats are up 3/4c. Provisions varied from a shade to 7 1/2c higher.

There was a burst of speculative buying at the opening far in excess of any previous day, which gathered strength with each succeeding hour until all previous records for the present crop were shattered. The early reports from the spring wheat territory were no more encouraging than they had been and the Northwestern markets were stronger. Cables showed foreign markets to have followed late advances on this side and there were indications that foreigners were purchasing in this market. Buying orders far in excess of offerings were in the market from the start.

The crop reports, bad to start with, became lamentable in their details of destruction by rust of whole fields. In many localities farmers were reported as engaged in burning the standing grain to clear the land. From the Dakotas, Minnesota and Ontario the same reports came, and traders appeared to scent famine. The buying furor set in in earnest. Only once—soon after the opening, when a few long lines were released—did the price go below the opening range. A momentary dip carried September down to $1.07 1/2 and December to $1.06. The rest of the trading appeared to be one frantic scramble to buy. Not until the high points, $1.09 for September, and $1.10 for December, were reached, was there any marked halt in the advance.

WILD BULL MARKET.

Price of Wheat Soars High at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Aug. 18.—September wheat closed 5 cents higher in Minneapolis Wednesday than it did Tuesday. The closing figures were $1.13 1/2, against $1.08 1/2. It was a wild bull market. The price started at $1.09 and kept climbing. Checks were few and far between, for all the traders were alarmed over the reports of rust damage in the Canadian Northwest.

SENATOR HOAR DYING

AGED MASSACHUSETTS STATES-
MAN CANNOT RECOVER FROM ILLNESS.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 18.—Senator George Frisbie Hoar is dying. His physicians and also his son, General Rockwood Hoar, said during the morning that the venerable senator would not live perhaps more than three days.

Senator Hoar's illness began several weeks ago with lumbago and Tuesday he suffered a relapse, which, his relatives fear, makes his case hopeless.

Rockwood Hoar, son of Senator Hoar, said that the senator's entire system seemed to be worn out. In fact, he was so greatly exhausted that recuperation from his trouble, which otherwise would have been insignificant, seemed impossible. The senator's breaking down began at Washington during the last session of congress with the death of Mrs. Hoar, which occurred suddenly.

Senator Hoar was resting quietly at 11:30 p. m. under the influence of opiates. He may die within the next twenty-four hours.

LABOR LEADER ARRESTED.
Accused of Extorting Money From a Plumber.

New York, Aug. 18.—The most sensational incident in the great building lockout and strike, which has thrown nearly 25,000 workmen into idleness, came Wednesday when Philip Weinselmer, president and organizer of the Building Trades alliance, was placed under arrest on a charge of extortion. When the labor leader was arraigned in the court, he was confronted by George J. Essig, a plumber, who charged that on Dec. 3, last, he paid Weinselmer $1,000 so that work could be resumed upon an apartment house on Riverside drive. Upon motion of District Attorney Jerome, examination was put over until today, bail being fixed at $1,500, which was furnished.

Several Persons Injured.
Scranton, Kan., Aug. 18.—A special train from Cincinnati bound for Coronado Beach, Cal., running on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, was derailed one mile east of Scranton. One person was fatally injured, five were hurt seriously and six others sustained slight injuries.

Shot by Moonshiners.
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 18.—Deputy Internal Revenue Collector J. L. McCoy was seriously wounded at night by being shot by moonshiners at the head of the Licking river, while attempting to demolish a still.

DRIVING OUT THE NEGROES.

Whites Around Statesboro, Ga., Whip or Shoot Colored Men.

Statesboro, Ga., Aug. 18.—One negro found dead by the roadside five miles east of the town, his body pierced by two bullets; two peaceful negroes, one old man and his son, seventeen years of age, shot in their cabin by unknown marauders; half a dozen cases of flogging, which are of nightly occurrences, too frequent to excite more than passing notice, such was the history of the past few hours.

The scene of excitement has shifted from this city to the rich agricultural region surrounding it. At Riggs Mill, half a dozen miles from here, several well-to-do white planters met Wednesday and deliberately planned how to rid their neighborhood of obnoxious negroes. Individual negroes were marked for lashings and part of the programme is being carried out. Two victims, a black man and a black woman, have been marked for whippings at Register, near here. Their offenses are alleged disrespectful protest against the white supremacy here. This is the condition in this section. It is not a race war, for violence comes all from one side. It is a determined effort on the part of a large class of citizens to rid the community of a class of blacks that is said to have made life unbearable.

It is stated that the Statesboro militia have prepared their resignations for the governor.

Latest accounts indicate that Handy Bell has escaped so far, although he was captured and only released after vowing when the rope was placed around his neck that he was innocent of the Hodges murder. The body of a negro supposed to be Bell was viewed by people who knew him and declared not to be that of Bell.

GOING BACK TO HER PARENTS.

Little Heroine of Kidnapping Episode Sails for Denmark.

New York, Aug. 18.—Five-year-old Elsie Gellert, the heroine of an international kidnapping episode, started for her home in Denmark Wednesday on the steamship United States. The child was taken from her kidnappers, William and Mary Jensen, in Chicago, about ten days ago. For two years, at the solicitation of the parents of the child, the Danish government has been employing every means for her recovery.

The Champion of the Lakes.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The Ste. Claire, winner of the Lipton cup, added another to her trophies Wednesday by capturing the third race for the Webb cup, which carries with it the twenty-one foot championship of the lakes.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Walter E. Egan lost the Western golf championship to S. C. Spitzer at Highland Park, Ill., Wednesday.

A new Australian cabinet has been formed with Mr. Reid as premier and minister for external affairs.

Grandma Blackman, who claimed she was 116 years old, was buried Wednesday in Mills Center, Brown county, Wis.

Colonel Prentiss Ingraham of Chicago, said to be the author of more than 1,000 novels, is dead at Beauvoir, Miss., aged fifty years.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball championship of the United States and Canada was won at St. Louis by the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A. in defeating the team from Sioux City by a score of 35 to 29.
